GREAT BRITAIN TO ACCEPT IN PRINCIPLE U. S. PROPOSALS

$9,250,000 PLEDGED FOR NEW BUILDING, CUNLIFF SAYS

Construction Involving This Sum Would Start in Four Months After Jan. 1, if Wages Are Reduced 20 Per Cent, Says Director of Public Welfare, After Conferences.

MATERIAL PRICES TO BE REDUCED

Dealers Have Promised Cooperation, Cunliff Says—Unions Agreed to Consider Reductions if $12,000,000 in Building Were Pledged.

Director of Public Welfare, Cunliff, who represents the public in negotiations to revive the building industry, said today that he had obtained pledges that $9,250,000 in building construction will be started in the four months following Jan. 1, providing the organized building crafts will accept a 20 per cent reduction in wages from $1.25 to $1 an hour. He added that he had appointments with several persons tomorrow who have charge of building programs involving the expenditure of approximately $25,000,000.

As known, the Mayor's action in directing Cunliff to call conferences of owners, contractors, material men and representatives of organized labor, with a view to having all sides make concessions in the interest of a large building program, followed an exhaustive survey of conditions in the building industry in this city, published exclusively in last Tuesday's Post-Dispatch, in which it was shown that building projects aggregating $20,000,000 were being held up by high costs.

Says Dealers Promise Reductions.

The Building Trades Council has agreed to consider a reduction in wages, providing $12,000,000 worth of building is pledged for the first four months of next year and if the building material dealers will pledge a substantial reduction in prices of materials, Director Cunliff said.

"I have talked with several material dealers, and they have assured me that if the cost of labor is reduced to $1 an hour and if $12,000,000 worth of work is undertaken in the four months period beginning Jan. 1, they will promise a substantial reduction in the price of materials. I also have been assured that under the same conditions the price of lumber, which has been steadily increasing, will remain at its present level."

Director Cunliff added that he was not in a position to state with whom he has been conferring, but that he felt no hesitancy in saying that if the labor leaders and supply dealers come to an agreement erection of buildings to cost $9,250,000 will be started in the early part of January.

MARYLAND IN SPEED TESTS

ROCKLAND, Md., Nov. 14.—The superdreadnought Maryland, "one of the battleships which will escape the proposed scrap heap of armament limitation, went on the Rockland trial course today for speed and other official standardization tests. Motion pictures of the big battleship at top speed, about 21 knots, were taken for exhibition before the Disarmament Conference in Washington Thursday.

THREE SACKS OF MAIL STOLEN FROM BRANCH POSTOFFICE

Burglars Force Front Door of Anchor Substation at 2700 Franklin Between 4 and 4:30 A. M.

Anchor substation of the St. Louis Postoffice at 2700 Franklin avenue was entered by robbers after 4 o'clock this morning, and three sacks of first-class mail were stolen.

The sacks, with their sides slit open, and with many of the enclosed letters torn open, were found at 6:15 on Mullanphy street, east of Twentieth street, and were turned over first to the police and then to the postoffice authorities.

The letters in the sacks were intended for the first delivery this morning in the northern central district, bounded by Grand avenue, Twentieth street, the railroad tracks and Cass avenue.

No Estimate of Loss.

None of the mail was registered, and the postoffice has no means, at this time, of estimating the amount in cash or checks which may have been taken from the letters, but it is not believed that any large amount, in money value, was obtained.

The postal substation was entered by the front door. A policeman trying the door at 4 o'clock found it secure, but at 4:30 the door was found to have been opened by the use of a burglar tool, close to the lock.

A clerk, arriving at 5, gave the first information as to the mail which had been removed.

The mail sacks are delivered to the substation each morning about 3 o'clock by the driver of a truck from the Central Postoffice. No one is at the substation at that time, and the driver enters by using a duplicate key. On the visit at 3 o'clock this morning, the driver left the sacks of mail and departed without having noted anything suspicious.

Incidents of Two Weeks Ago.

Two weeks ago, on one of his early visits, the same driver saw three or four men loitering about the entrance of the substation, one of them with a flashlight in his hand. He called to them in the hallway adjoining the entrance. He asked them what they were doing, and one man replied that he was a Postoffice inspector.

70 PLEAS OF GUILTY OF VIOLATING ANTITRUST LAW

Firms in Tile and Mantle Combine in New York Were Indicted in August

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Seventy corporations and individuals, comprising what is known as the Tile and Mantle Combine, today entered pleas of guilty of violation of the Sherman antitrust law in Federal Court.

They were indicted last August as the result of an investigation into the building trades industry by the Lockwood legislative committee.

The driver called for a policeman and the men ran away.

Persons in the neighborhood told policemen of seeing and hearing men in an automobile in the vicinity of the substation early this morning. Four men were arrested on suspicion and were taken to the Dayton Street Police Station.

At the office of the chief postoffice inspector, it was pointed out that a registered mail could not be obtained in a theft such as the one committed at Anchor station, since registered matter is held at the Central Postoffice until daylight and is delivered to branches only in the daytime. At the branch, if any registered mail remains undelivered over night, it is kept in the safe.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES ST. LOUIS PETITION

Expresses Appreciation for Token of Popular Appreciation Here of Arms Limitation.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Capt. Charles Thorburn and Private A. C. Nesbit of St. Louis today presented to President Harding a resolution urging disarmament signed by 57,000 St. Louisans. They were accompanied to the White House at 1 p. m. by Senator Spencer.

The resolution, adopted at a mass meeting at the Coliseum last Wednesday night, asked that something be done "to reduce immediately to the lowest possible limits the naval, military, aerial and chemical weapons of warfare."

President Harding declared his interest and appreciation for this token of popular favor in St. Louis for disarmament.

A copy of the resolution also was presented to Secretary of State Hughes.

Two other delegations also were received by the President. Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey presented Isaac N. Lewis of New Jersey, and others with resolutions adopted by New Jersey mass meetings approving the conference. The third reception was accorded to members of the District of Columbia, Women's Committee on Armament Limitation.

Senator Kellogg's Eye Removed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Senator Kellogg of Minnesota is recovering in a hospital here today from an operation in which his left eye, sightless for several years, was removed. ### Second Week of Versailles Trial Opens With Hundreds Besieging Courtroom

By the Associated Press.

VERSAILLES, Nov. 14.—The second week of the Landru trial opened with popular interest evidently unabated in the testimony which is to determine the fate of the alleged "Bluebeard of Gambais." Hundreds of persons were waiting in line at an early hour outside the Courthouse, and when the doors were opened the courtroom was speedily jammed.

Last week the direct examination was completed in the cases of four of the women, and the son of one of them, whom Landru is accused of murdering. Today Judge Gilbert resumed direct examination of the prisoner regarding the disappearance of Mme. Colomb, the sixth of Landru's alleged 11 victims.

Mme. Colomb was for a long time a resident of Guatemala.

BOTH EXPORTS AND IMPORTS INCREASED DURING OCTOBER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Both exports and imports increased during October as compared with September—the former by $21,000,000 and the latter by $4,000,000, according to the monthly report issued last night by the Commerce Department. The foreign trade of the month resulted in a favorable trade balance of $163,000,000.

Exports during October aggregated $346,000,000 against $325,000,000 in September and $751,000,000 in October, 1920, while imports totaled $183,000,000 against $179,000,000 in September and $333,000,000 in October, 1920.

For the 10 months ended with October, exports amounted to $3,898,000,000 compared with $3,831,000,000 during the corresponding months of 1920, and imports aggregated $2,655,000,000 against $4,931,000,000 during the same 10 months of 1920.

FARRAR TRIAL IN NEW YORK

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 14.—The marital differences of Geraldine Farrar, Metropolitan Opera star, and Lou Tellegen, actor, will be threshed out in the courts of New York City, in accordance with the wish of the diva, who today won her fight for a change of venue in her husband's suit for separation.

Justice Morschauer granted the singer's plea on the ground that neither plaintiff nor defendant lived in West Chester County. Tellegen's action and the one for divorce begun by Miss Farrar, it was said, will be tried simultaneously.

PROCLAMATION DECLARING PEACE WITH GERMANY SIGNED BY PRESIDENT

Document Formally Brings to an End the War Which Was Declared April 6, 1917.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—PRESIDENT HARDING signed a proclamation declaring peace with Germany just before 4 p. m. today.

The proclamation, held to be necessary to make inoperative certain acts of Congress, was prepared in the State Department last week, and brings to a formal end the war which the United States declared against Germany April 6, 1917. It was held in some quarters that peace really became effective with the exchange of ratifications between the United States and Germany in Berlin Friday.

The President's signature was attached to the document without ceremony at 3:52 p. m. today, upon his return from laying the corner stone of an intended victory memorial in Washington. Not even Secretary Christian was present and the proclamation was taken to Mr. Harding by a messenger following the regular routine of executive office business.

AUSTIN J. PECK JR. PAROLED FROM PENITENTIARY BY HYDE

St. Louisan Earning Five Years for Embezzlement Said to Have Tuberculosis.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 14.—Austin J. Peck Jr., of 5316 Pershing avenue, St. Louis, serving a five-year sentence from Jan. 26 last, in the penitentiary for embezzlement by bailie, today was paroled by Gov. Hyde to James E. Dame of 5940 Julian avenue, St. Louis, upon the recommendation of the prison physician who said that the prisoner was suffering from tuberculosis.

Peck, together with his brother, Robert, on Jan. 26, was found guilty of embezzling $13,000 in securities entrusted to a stock brokerage firm operated by them in the Merchants-Laclede Building under the name of Peck & Co. by Jordan Eilers, a Gillette (Ill.) grocer, who testified they induced him to pledge the securities for a loan with which to buy stock they recommended. Robert was given a sentence of two years.

The Peck brothers are members of an old and wealthy St. Louis family, being great grandsons of the late Charles H. Peck.

BALFOUR TO SPEAK ON ADHERENCE TO THE PLAN TOMORROW

"Certain Definite Modifications" to Be Offered, Including Rules on Submarines, Change in Replacement Plan and Discussion of Airplane Carrier Program.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Great Britain's acceptance "in principle" of the American proposal for limitation of naval armament will be laid before the conference tomorrow. It will be based on what are described as "certain definite modifications."

Considered most important is a modification in the program for replacement. Instead of a flat 10-year holiday, during which no new ships shall be built, the British have in mind that the replacement program be carried on from year to year and thus keep the shipyards from going to rot, or allow each country a one-ship building plant.

The figure of 90,000 tons of submarines fixed by the American proposals, Great Britain's naval experts consider too high, as the British navy never possessed that tonnage of submarines.

It is said that Great Britain may even propose the abolition of submarines, and if she does not go that far will work for limitation of their size and armament.

The British experts feel that the limitations for airplane carriers give the United States some advantage, because the British already have a number which will become obsolete while the United States will build new ones of a superior character.

Although Mr. Balfour is only head of the British mission in the absence of Premier Lloyd George, he has plenipotentiary powers in the negotiations.

Expense of Replacement.

The British argument is that if a flat holiday of 10 years goes into effect, the organizations for shipbuilding will have to be maintained none the less at tremendous expense to take up the replacement program at the end of the 10 years' holiday. Then, they argue, would follow another holiday, and then another burst of building.

The British viewpoint is that while armaments themselves are being reduced, there should also be a strict reduction of armament plants, but the facilities for carrying on a small replacement program should remain in a state of reasonable efficiency.

The British would like to see the replacement program made more elastic and spread over a term of years.

Great Britain's principal consideration, it is understood, in framing the reply which Mr. Balfour will make tomorrow, has been the question of what was to be done to bring France and Italy within the scope of the plan for limitations. The American delegates, it is understood, impressed their British colleagues with the advisability of first disposing of the question as it affects the three principals—the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

Britain's Acceptance Announced.

Great Britain's acceptance of the general plan and Japan's sympathetic attitude were openly forecast Saturday after the delivery of Secretary Hughes' remarkable presentation, but it remained for a spokesman, speaking for Arthur Balfour, head of the British delegation, to give official outline of the coming developments.

Mr. Balfour, it was announced, will address the second plenary session of the conference tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, and at that time bespeak Great Britain's adherence to the fundamentals of the proposals laid down in behalf of the American delegation by Secretary Hughes.

"Acceptance in principle" is a diplomatic phrase which, while marking an important mile post in

BRITISH CABINET FAVORS AMERICAN PLAN; EXPERTS TO REPORT ON DETAILS

LONDON, Nov. 14.

THE American proposals for drastic limitation of naval armament have been received with expressions of much favor in British official circles. While the Cabinet will not officially discuss the proposals until the British experts have reported after examining them, it is stated that the individual members of the Cabinet wholeheartedly support the broad principles contained in the address of Secretary of State Hughes at the opening of the conference in Washington Saturday.

The opinion is generally expressed that such a plain statement of policy, made at the outset of the conference, will materially assist in the achievement of a definite, allround reduction in armaments. It is recognized that many points in the proposals must occasion discussion, and the British naval experts are already examining the proposition.

The Cabinet will consider the subject as soon as the experts make their report. Ratification of any decision reached will be asked of the Parliament.

an international negotiation, does not by any means assure its conclusion in original form.

Acceptance in principle in this case is taken by observers to mean that Great Britain will not close her acceptance finally until the conference has proceeded to conclusions in the cases of France and Italy, and it may indeed be further conditioned upon the development of the discussion of Far Eastern affairs. Great Britain's acceptance in principle, however, is regarded as a long step toward the success of the conference along the lines laid down by the American delegation.

A synopsis of the proposals for armament reduction has been sent to American diplomatic and consular agents throughout the world for such use as they may deem expedient. It was explained that this step was another part of the effort of the American Government to give the negotiations the widest possible publicity.

"Big Five Discuss Program."

The heads of the delegations of the five principal Powers arrived promptly at the Pan-American Union Building where the committee dealing with armament limitation procedure met this morning.

Secretary Hughes was first to arrive, but he was followed by Arthur Balfour, heading the British delegation, and a staff of technical experts of the army and navy. Pres-

WORLD-WIDE APPROVAL GIVEN TO PRINCIPLE OF HUGHES DISARMAMENT PLAN

BRITISH LEADERS APPLAUD HUGHES' ARMAMENT PLAN

VARIOUS VIEWS ON TEN-YEAR HOLIDAY

Submarine Expert Approves, but Admiral of the Fleet Questions It—Labor Leaders Would Go Still Farther

By JAMES M. TUOHY,
London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—America's heroic proposal for limitation of naval armaments has staggered British expectations, but delighted the British public. It was the absorbing topic of discussion everywhere yesterday, and the man in the street cannot see why it should not be accepted forthwith. It is not only a commendable proposal, but by reason of its effect in giving reality to the Washington conference from the start and removing all shadow of a doubt that America means business, it is proposed to lead the way in making sacrifices.

Some such bold step was imperative to convince European cynics and doubters, satiated with conferences that only confirmed America's expectation of the Washington conference to act, not merely talk. It was especially valuable in its reaction on Socialist Labor opinion, which has been frankly skeptical about the sincerity of the "capitalist" governments in their expressed aspiration for limitation of armaments.

Armament interests silent. It has struck the great armament interests in this country dumb. Their representatives cannot be induced to say a word upon this subject, and America expects the Washington conference to act, not merely talk. It was especially valuable in its reaction on Socialist Labor opinion, which has been frankly skeptical about the sincerity of the "capitalist" governments in their expressed aspiration for limitation of armaments.

These interests are enormously powerful, not only here, but in all European countries, and they can exercise an international pull which it would be foolish to ignore or underestimate. They have close affiliations with all European governments and can make their opposition seriously felt, though they are not so unsophisticated as to commit themselves by coming into the open.

Labor is dependent on these firms. Engaged Government dockyards will be severely hit and it is expected labor will prove one of the vehicles by which the armament interests will make their hostility felt. But world opinion was never before so consistently pacific or immune from militaristic influences.

Options on proposals. The following opinions were given to the Post-Dispatch today: Admiral of the Fleet Sir Henry Jackson, former First Sea Lord: "Naval armaments must be dependent upon an agreed policy among the nations. If a satisfactory lasting agreement upon a policy is to be reached, the proposal offered by the United States should form a good basis whereon to work out details as to the nature of the arms fighting fleet. But such a break in the continuity of building will require very cautious consideration."

Rear Admiral Murray Suter, expert on submarines, aircraft, and tanks: "I am heartily in favor of the 10-year naval holiday proposed by the United States."

Admiral Sir Cecil Burney, second in command of the Grand Fleet in 1915 and 1916: "The question depends entirely on details."

Lieutenant Commander the Hon. Joseph Kenworthy, M. P.: "Mr. Hughes' proposal shows the United States means business, but battleships are unimportant. In a future war, submarine cruisers would be the real strength. Submarines should be prohibited as inhuman and existing submarines scrapped. They could be built secretly, but battleships could be built without skilled crews. The British public will force the Government to agree to the Hughes proposal. No nation can afford to build battleships costing $40,000,000, which would be practically useless in naval wars of the future. All old ships should be scrapped and it would be a vast economy. Far from being possibly useful, they are a positive encumbrance. Tonnage in capital ships is not the real basis of naval power. The real basis is the number of ocean-going submarines owned by a naval power and the efficiency of their crews. If we are going to disarm, we must disarm completely. It is no use trying to do a thing like this by half measures. It is essentially a case of all or none."

Labor leaders' view. The Right Hon. J. R. Clynes, M. P., prominent labor leader and former member of the Cabinet: "The pro-

FEAR OF FAILURE GONE, SAYS TOKUGAWA; AGREEMENT IS CERTAIN, DECLARES KATO

Japanese Delegates Predict Success of Conference at Reception to Representatives of Press.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The mist of cynicism which hung over the arms conference prior to the formal opening have been dissipated. Today there is everywhere apparent the keenest confidence that substantial and far-reaching results will flow from the gathering.

This new spirit of optimism, injected into the conference by the bold proposal of Secretary State Hughes that the three principal naval powers scrap a total of 65 capital ships and declare a 10-year naval holiday, was strengthened last night by speeches made to a large gathering of newspaper men by Baron Kato, the ranking member of Japan's delegation, and Prince Tokugawa, one of the other members.

Baron Kato, a man of slight figure with thin, ascetic features, read a prepared statement in Japanese. From the earnestness of his manner and the ringing emphasis that he put on some of his words, the Americans in the audience judged that the speech contained more than polite protestations of good will. It did, as the translation showed.

"With fears on both sides obliterated," said Baron Kato, "an agreement, so far as Japan and the United States are concerned, cannot fail to come." Special significance was attached to the statement in view of the fact that earlier in the day there had been interchanges of views between the British and Japanese delegations. Such a flat-footed pronouncement, it was felt, would not have been made at this stage of the proceedings unless the other members of the Anglo-Japanese alliance had given approval. Checked by both the Americans and the numerous Japanese present greeted the statement.

Prince Tokugawa, in a brief speech in English declared that both the co-operation of the press of the world, the success of the conference would be assured. One of the striking things about the conference to date is the manner in which the Japanese have set to work to dispel suspicion as to their motives. The Japanese, it has been expected, would prove one of the big stumbling blocks in the way of "open" relations between the nations. Yet all surface indications thus far are that the Japanese intend to pursue a policy of the utmost frankness.

Feeling Plan Will Be Approved. The prevailing comment at last night's reception where the Japanese delegates and newspapermen fraternized with the Americans in most cordial fashion, was that Secretary of State Hughes had delivered an audacious and statesmanlike stroke in that his plan, in effect, laid the Japanese on a par with the United States in dealing with Far Eastern problems.

Japan, like America, it has often been remarked, was eager to reduce the burden of taxation by reducing expenditures for armaments. Representatives of the Asahi, a liberal organ of Tokyo, asserted there was no doubt that the Japanese delegates, in the atmosphere of the conference, had been created around the concrete Far Eastern plan and will bring it out with the same bold disregard of conventional diplomatic usage that marked his dramatic presentation of the American battleship scrapping proposal.

Remarks of Baron Kato and Prince Tokugawa. "Gentlemen," said Prince Tokugawa, "we cannot doubt the success of the negotiations."

If any of us feared failure of this conference before leaving Japan, that fear has been dispelled since our arrival here. Everywhere we see earnestness and sincerity; we have seen no sign of unfriendliness. And the words which the President and the Secretary of State spoke yesterday have thrilled us no less than they have thrilled the nations of Europe or America.

these are right and faith. Upon you more heavily, perhaps, than upon any other human agency devolves the great responsibility of spreading knowledge and inspiring confidence. With your co-operation the success of the conference will be assured. With the several delegations and the press managers performing their duties, we shall witness the fulfillment of that happy time when your great President, Thomas Jefferson, foresaw in his famous inaugural address: "Peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations."

With fear on both sides obliterated, an agreement so far as Japan and the United States are concerned, cannot fail to come. It is with this view that the Japanese delegation will proceed to a detailed examination of the American proposal.

Admiral Kato defined the position of Japan, the reason for which she felt constrained to build up her navy in spite of the tremendous financial burden which it entailed, saying: "The cost of the navy has now become so heavy that they are a burden, hampering productive activity throughout the world and Japan, like other countries, rejoices at the prospect of relief that will come from the limitation of armaments."

BRITAIN TO WEIGH EFFECT OF HOLIDAY ON SAILOR TRAINING

Problem Presented by American Proposal to Suspend Building of Naval Craft for 10 Years.

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG,
London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Great Britain, as was indicated in an earlier dispatch, will accept in principle tomorrow America's drastic limitation of armaments proposal with its suggestion of a ten-year naval holiday. This form of acceptance, however, leaves a good deal of latitude for reservations on questions of detail; and that there will be substantial reservations is a foregone conclusion.

Second thoughts on America's bold proposition have not qualified any of the optimists felt after the first conference. It is believed that America has given a magnificent impetus to the whole question of limitation of armaments and in so doing has created an atmosphere in which any reservation may be discussed with a far greater chance of mutual accommodation than would otherwise be possible.

What the chief points of reservation will be still remains a secret. The cost of the navy has now become so heavy that they are a burden, hampering productive activity throughout the world and Japan, like other countries, rejoices at the prospect of relief that will come from the limitation of armaments.

How the World Received Hughes' Plan for Limitation of Naval Armaments

ENGLAND—Press and public men almost unanimously express gratification at the scope and nature of the plan offered by Secretary of State Hughes. Labor leaders were particularly hearty. Naval experts pointed out difficult details which are still to be arranged.

JAPAN—Admiral Kato and Prince Tokugawa of the Japanese delegation both expressed the opinion that the success of the conference was assured by its auspicious opening and the nature of Secretary Hughes' plan.

FRANCE—Paris newspapers approve the Hughes plan almost without reserve, but in their articles the spirit of optimism seen elsewhere is not observed.

UNITED STATES SENATE according to a partial poll, would ratify an agreement based on the Hughes plan.

JUDGE GARY who often speaks for the great steel interests, declares himself delighted with the announcement.

SENATOR BORAH irreconcilable opponent of American participation in any league, says plan is good, but that it should go further and destroy all battleships and submarines.

CHILEAN newspapers comment favorably on plan.

warmly welcome America's bold, statesmanlike proposal. I believe British public opinion will increasingly rally to its support. It is just what we need. It is just what we need. It is just what we need.

DRIVER OF AUTO HELD AFTER BOY IS FATALY HURT

C. A. Jacobi, Merchant Tailor, Locked Up at Clayton After Death of Fred Davidter Jr., 12.

ACCIDENT ON GRAVOIS ROAD IN COUNTY

Buggy Wrecked When Hit by Machine—Mother of Boy Also in Hospital, Seriously Injured.

Fred Davidter Jr., 12 years old, of Affton, St. Louis County, died at St.
Anthony's Hospital early today from a compound fracture of the skull and other injuries suffered about 11 o'clock last night, when a buggy in which he was riding was struck by an automobile on Gravois road, near Heege road, a few blocks beyond the southwestern city limits.

C. A. Jacobi, 32 years old, a merchant tailor, of 2848 Michigan avenue, was arrested today by a St.
Louis County deputy constable, suspected of felonious wounding, in connection with the accident. Jacobi was locked up in the Clayton jail, lacking the required $5000 bond.
He will be heard before Justice of the Peace Pfeiffer at Luxemburg, Nov. 22. It was learned that young Davidter was riding with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davidter, and he is said to have been thrown from the buggy onto the concrete pavement.

Mrs. Davidter, who is 31 years old, is at the Lutheran Hospital, in a serious condition, suffering from scalp wounds, internal injuries, cuts and bruises caused by the accident. She had not been informed of her son's death several hours after it occurred.

A. W. Gums of 4238A Botanical avenue passed the scene a few minutes after the accident and found the boy in a house, apparently receiving no attention at the time, he said, so he took him to St. Anthony's Hospital in his machine. He said he was told that the buggy was passing a machine stopped at the side of the road because of tire trouble and that another machine cut between the buggy and the parked car, striking the buggy with great force and doing some damage to the other car, and went ahead without stopping.

Gums said that the driver of the machine which was stopped was Jacobi, to whom he talked after the accident.

Four Children, Three Women Hurt in Motor Vehicle Accidents.

Miss Ida Zimmerman, 17, of 5635A
Oriole avenue, and Miss Theresa Schneidmeyer, 24, 1525 Mallock-street, were injured at 11 o'clock last night when a coupe driven by Frank Mogler, 4042 Red Bud avenue, skidded and turned over near Nineteenth and Salisbury streets.
At the city hospital Miss Zimmerman was found to have suffered a fractured shoulder and scalp wounds and contusions.

Mrs. Ella Greenwald, 27, and her
8-year-old son, John, of Oakville, Mo., were thrown from a chair placed in the rear end of an automobile truck driven by her husband, Frederick, when the truck turned a corner at Virginia avenue and Dakota street at 4 p. m. They fell in the street and were cut and bruised.
The truck collided with a tree at the corner when Greenwald lost control after the chair toppled over.

Milton Hartweck, 5 years old, his sister, Bernice, 7, of 4220A College avenue, and Marie Levin, 7, of 2952A Penrose street, were cut and bruised and suffered sprained muscles at 3 p. m. when knocked down by an automobile driven by Grover Fritman of 5214 North Twentieth street, when Fritman lost control of the machine and ran on the sidewalk at College avenue and Penrose street.

10 DIE IN NEW YORK TENEMENT HOUSE FIRE

Many Persons Cling to Ledges,
One Man Falling to Street
—30 Slightly Injured.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Ten lives were lost and more than a score of persons injured in a fire of unknown origin which partly destroyed a five-story tenement house on West Seventeenth street before dawn today. The building was occupied by 15 families, mostly Armenians and Greeks. Only a few of the dead, two of whom were children, have been identified. Nine were burned and the tenth died in a fall from a ledge where he had clung until exhausted. The building, a five-story tenement, was occupied by 15 families. Investigation showed the fire had originated in the basement and roared up through a shaft to the second floor, where it spread through the four upper stories of the building.

Many of the persons who lived in the tenement grouped their way to windows, where they clung to ledges and screamed for help. Postoffice employees from a substation across the street saved many before the firemen reached the scene. One man became exhausted while clinging to a window ledge and fell to the street, suffering a fractured skull.

WOMAN MUSIC STUDENT CAUSES ARREST OF NEGRO

Miss Edith Mellick Says She Fell Downstairs in Escaping Man at Musical Arts Building.

When Newstead avenue police were called at 6:40 o'clock last night to the Musical Arts Building, 459 North Boyle avenue, they found Miss Edith Mellick, 28 years old, a music student, who is staying at the home of Rudolph Ganz, director of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, 501 Clara avenue. She had a sprained left ankle and bruises of the face and body.

Miss Mellick said she had been practicing on the piano in the Woodbridge studio on the second floor. When she went to the telephone to call a taxi she noticed a negro janitor sitting in the room adjoining the studio. Directly after she returned to the studio the lights were extinguished and in the darkness a man seized her and warned her that she would be killed if she screamed. She attempted to get away and was knocked down two or three times, but finally got away and in her flight fell down the stairs.

After receiving treatment from a doctor in the neighborhood she was sent to the Ganz residence.

The police found Richard Welch, 39 years old, a negro janitor, in his room in the basement. Miss Mellick was taken to the station and identified Welch. He denied he was the man. Miss Mellick was to have appeared this morning to apply for a warrant, but the police were informed that she was unable to leave her bed.

PUPIL SAYS HER DISMISSAL WAS CAUSED BY FACE POWDER

Writ Asking for Restoration in School Filed by 18-Year-Old Arkansas Girl.

By the Associated Press.

KNOWLEDGE, Ark., Nov. 14.—A writ of mandamus asking that she "be restored to her rights in the public schools" has been filed here by Miss Pearl Lugsley, 18 years old, who says she was dismissed from the eighth grade of a public school here by the board of directors for using face powder. Two other students, Emma Byres and Natalie Jones, were dismissed at the same time for a similar cause, Miss Lugsley says.

Early this year the board issued a statement that no face powders, cosmetics, rouges, peek-a-boos, waists, thin stockings or abbreviated skirts would be tolerated if worn by students in the schools.

The case is scheduled to be heard Nov. 26.

JOURNALISTIC WAR IN PARIS SPREADING OVER ALL FRANCE

Petit Parisien Decides to Publish Editions in Tours and Other Cities.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—War has been declared in Paris newspaperland and the battlefield will likely embrace all of France. The Petit Parisien has taken the offensive in deciding to print a separate provincial edition at Tours, from which it could reach other parts of the country ahead of its Paris rivals. This breaks the pact which gave the Petit Parisien and the other four members of the "Big Five" undisputed control of the newspaper business of Paris and the provinces without competition among themselves.

The other papers in the fight are Le Matin, Petit Journal, Journal and Echo de Paris. They are organizing a counter offensive consisting of a special train service to carry extra editions to provincial centers.

These four papers are also holding councils of war with the editors of the provincial dailies, which have been hard hit by the Petit Parisien's invasion. They have established headquarters at the capital.

As a further blow to its opponents, the Petit Parisien plans to publish editions in all big cities, including Marseilles, Lyons, Limoges and Strasbourg.

While the interest of the local papers vary widely, most of them are in the camp of the new "Big Four." It is said the Petit Parisien's war is costing it 100,000 francs a day.

WOMAN TAKEN TO HOSPITAL AFTER VISIT TO UNDERTAKER

Mrs. Emma Geisler Had Sought to Make Funeral Arrangements for Herself and Baby.

Mrs. Emma Geisler, 34 of 1112 North Broadway, was taken to the city hospital at noon yesterday, after she had visited an undertaking company on Florissant avenue and had made arrangements for a funeral for herself and a 2-year-old baby she was carrying.

When she left the place the police were told of the incident, and found the woman and baby on Florissant avenue, a block from the establishment. They reported she said she intended killing herself and the baby. A bottle of poison was found in her possession. Doctors at the hospital said Mrs. Geisler was suffering from hysteria.

PRINCE HENRY PLAYS PART IN IRISH PARLEY

He and Premier Dine Next to Sinn Feiners; Tentative Basis Reached.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1921, by the Press Publishing Co. (The New York World).
DUBLIN, Nov. 14.—The tentative agreement between the British and Irish conference delegates under which negotiations have recently been proceeding, was made at a dinner at the Savoy Hotel in London a fortnight ago, the Post-Dispatch correspondent is informed. By one of these happy accidents arranged by diplomacy, Prince Henry, the third son of the King, and Premier Lloyd George were dining at a table next to that occupied by the Irish delegates. The Prime Minister introduced Prince Henry to the Irish men and, following a brief conversation, a hurriedly summoned conference agreed upon the essentials of a tentative settlement. Next day Prince Henry visited Downing street and saw the settlement ratified.
If this account is true, it is assumed extreme pressure will be applied to Belfast to induce practical assistance of Ulster in the peace efforts. The refusal of the terms by Ulster has been received so far with philosophic calm here, this attitude having been anticipated from the beginning. Sinn Feiners say the next move is Lloyd George's, as he alone has the power to make the Craig Government offer concessions. Michael and E. J. Duggan of the Irish delegation arrived in Dublin yesterday morning to consult with Eamonn de Valera and his colleagues. It is learned that Ulster's counter proposals are unacceptable to the Sinn Fein. It is understood they are argumentative rather than practical, demanding proofs in advance of Sinn Fein allegiance to the crown and denying the Irish unity claim.

Counter Proposals of Ulster Reported Submitted to Lloyd George.
By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.
(Copyright, 1921.)

BELFAST, Nov. 14.—According to J. Milne Barbour, secretary to the Ministry of Finance in the Ulster Government, who returned to Belfast Saturday, after participating in the northern Cabinet meeting at London, the counter proposals submitted to Prime Minister Lloyd George, may be summarized as follows:

"1. The only concession Ulster will make is to accept dominion home rule for her.
"2. The expression 'dominion government' must always be construed in the light of Ulster's remaining a separate and distinct unit in the free nations composing the British empire.
"3. Ulster will never agree to any authority being placed directly or indirectly above the Northern Parliament that would in any way benefit from the authority exercised by his imperial majesty through an imperial parliament.
"4. We expect that if in order to restore peace and order in Ireland the Imperial Parliament give us terms to the South more advantageous than those already possessed by Ulster, equally advantageous terms will be extended to Ulster."

IRISH TO MEET IN PARIS

French to Watch Gathering There in January.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.
PARIS, Nov. 14.—Irishmen and women from all over the world will gather in Paris in January for a conference on national arts and literature. Although it is officially stated that politics will play no part in the discussions, people are wondering how it will be possible to prevent it. The French authorities have a watchful eye on its assembly, being opposed to the use of their territory for propaganda or organization action which is anti-British. Besides the delegates of the Irish race organization there will be representatives of ancient Irish families and men and women of Irish blood who have distinguished themselves in art and science in any land. It is hoped to make the conference annual or triennial.

EVERY POSTMAN IN ST. LOUIS ENROLLS IN RED CROSS

Every postman in St. Louis has sent in his dollar for the Fifth Red Cross roll call, although the campaign does not begin until Wednesday. In addition, the 2400 postmen are volunteer solicitors for the Red Cross, as each will carry a subscription blank with him, leaving it at every home on his route and calling for it later.

Bishop Tuttle was one of the first contributors to the Red Cross, sending a check which included the dollar membership and additional amount to be used as the St. Louis chapter of the Red Cross wished. His letter accompanying the check was as follows: "The Red Cross is a mother indeed; an all-round beneficent mother. In war she nurses the wounded; after war, she succors the disabled. In all sorts of calamities she helps the suffering ones. No more universal doer of good things can be pointed out. Let us one and all rally to her support. She needs it and she deserves it."

What the London and Paris Newspapers Think of Hughes' Proposal for Scrapping Ships

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The American plan for a 10-year naval holiday and the scrapping of all but a limited number of warships calls for much less sacrifice on the part of Great Britain than by the United States and Japan, in the view of the naval correspondent of the Daily Mail.

The proposed sacrifice, he says, "would be a heavy one for Japan and the United States, but comparatively trifling for Great Britain, as the latter has not yet incurred any great outlay on the four new ships just ordered."

Other correspondents point out that Great Britain has already taken the lead in the reduction of naval armaments, her progressive scrapping of warships since the armistice having amounted up to last April to more than 500 vessels, of which 300 were destroyers. Statistics are printed to show that neither Japan nor the United States has gone very far in this direction.

Most of the naval writers are obviously taking time to digest the proposals outlined by Secretary Hughes and thus far little expert opinion, as distinct from editorial views, has been published here.

All other news is subordinated to the Washington dispatches in the newspapers. The drastic proposals for naval limitation naturally found first place, but the speeches of President Harding and Secretary Hughes are also fully reported. While other dispatches describe the effect produced in America and the attitude of various delegates toward the American proposals.

"A Magnificent Ideal." "It may conceivably be found that the scheme is overbold," is the comment of the Daily Telegraph, "but it holds up such a magnificent ideal that it will awaken greater enthusiasm among those who passionately long for the world to get its feet well set upon the true path of peace."

The conference opened with a noble and dramatic stroke on the part of President Harding and Secretary Hughes. It is not the habit of America to do things by halves, and on this occasion the United States has astonished and impressed the world by her audacity and by the grand sweep of her proposals.

The Telegraph thinks that no hurried judgment is possible on such tremendous proposals, but believes that all the nations concerned, including Japan, will appreciate the courage which dictated them.

"However," it adds, "the naval experts of the three Powers will have to consider the scheme in all its bearings and we should not dismiss from ourselves that some may find it very hard to bring themselves to consent to scrap naval programs to which they have looked for the advancement of their national ambitions. Very searching questions will be addressed to those in charge of the destinies of Japan if they are asked to be content with a permanent naval strength of 300,000 tons, as compared with the 500,000 each of Great Britain and America."

Morning Post Comment. "We would say at once that acceptance by England of such a proposal must in all good faith depend upon the measure of agreement eventually attained by the conference. We cannot doubt that America perfectly appreciates the unique geographical position and economic requirements of the British empire, which involve the necessity of securing very long lines of communication, irrespective of the necessity of possessing a main fighting fleet."

The Post thinks that the scheme will require careful scrutiny, and that it might have been expected that the American Government would have deferred the production of the detailed scheme until the delegates to the conference had arrived at a common understanding.

Westminster Gazette's Comment. The Westminster Gazette declares that the proposal is magnificent, and says that it will certainly be received with no less enthusiasm all over the world than it is received in the conference.

"It may be called ambitious and far-reaching," it adds, "but ambitious schemes are often the easiest to accomplish." Remarking that logically the proposal ought to have followed, not preceded, consideration of the questions of policy, it continues, "but logic in human affairs is often a poor guide, and the United States was right in its decision to reverse the logical order of the problems with which the conference was summoned to deal."

"So far as Great Britain is concerned, there is no reason why the scheme should not be accepted without qualification; so far as the period of a decade is concerned it offers to us in fact more than we claim."

The paper then elaborates its view that adoption of the proposal would leave Great Britain in a very good position, and imagines that the Admiralty will accede readily enough. It then discusses what it regards as the real difficulty of the scheme, namely, the possible opposition of Japan and the certain opposition of the great armament firms. It thinks that the former will not be very serious for, in its opinion, the scheme is perfectly fair to Japan and would leave her no worse off than she is today and no worse off than she would be at any given moment if the existing programs of construction in America and Great Britain were put into effect.

The paper admits that the armament firms and their employees have much soldier reason for opposition, but says that if nothing is spent on naval construction for a decade a good deal can be spent in transforming the armament factories into factories for the production of useful commodities.

"Secretary Hughes," says the Chronicle, "thinks that the parts, the reduction of armaments and a political settlement, may proceed simultaneously. He may be right. At any rate, it is a great thing on the very first day of the conference to have brought down so big a quarry to discuss. It is better so than to hold up the design of the superstructure, as they did at Paris, while they had dug deep the foundation of the covenant."

"Must Be Carefully Studied." The Times treated the proposal with sympathetic admiration, but emphasizes that it will be carefully considered.

"By the very boldness with which it has thrown aside the traditions of old-fashioned diplomacy," says the Times, "it immediately captured the imagination of the people of the United States. We believe that in many respects it will appeal not less forcibly to the peoples of Europe."

"Like all schemes for carrying out large policies, the plan demands mature examination by the Governments of the nations whose security and interests it deeply concerns. It demands very heavy sacrifices from all, but all will cheerfully submit thereto if submission plainly promotes the end in view."

CHILEAN PAPERS ON THE CONFERENCE

By the Associated Press.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 14.—The Chilean newspapers devote much space to the opening of the Washington conference. All comment editorially and publish portraits of the leaders of the various delegations. La Nacion says that the Latin-American nations, especially those bordering on the Pacific, should follow the deliberations with the closest attention. It declares it to be an admitted fact that President Harding's ideal of the limitation of armaments cannot be considered except at the price of a definite and satisfactory settlement of international difficulties existing on the Pacific.

"Diplomatic history," the paper continues, "shows that when the questions concerning the dominion of the seas were considered, the conflicting interests were reconciled by fixing zones of influence, which meant the regulation of maritime traffic and communications. The decision on this aspect of the question enforced upon the Pacific nations of South America the greatest concern."

El Mercurio says that President Harding's idea has received universal approbation. In its opinion two grave problems endangering peace must be solved before it will be possible to establish a disarmament agreement on a solid basis—Atlantic and European.

It asserts that if limitation of armaments is agreed upon, it will affect the southern continent very little, "since it cannot be said that any Latin-American country has a greater military and naval defense than the most elementary provisions demand."

Results Assured, Paris Press View of U. S. Proposal.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Dispatches outlining the developments at the opening of the armament conference in Washington take first place in all the Paris newspapers. Extensive excerpts are printed from President Harding's address, the speech by Secretary Hughes giving the American program for a ten-year naval holiday and the comments thereon by Premier Briand and A. J. Balfour, acting head of the British delegation. The newspaper comment is generally favorable.

"The Washington conference convened with the formal intention of reaching positive results," is the trend of the editorials in newspapers of all shades of politics, excepting those representing the Communists, which insist that a "Bourgeois conference can never achieve peace."

President Harding's high idealism, as evidenced in his opening address, is termed by the Petit Parisien "a ray of sunlight coming to rekindle the heart of our people, so greatly touched by the war."

The Fikaro declares the friendship of America always has been infinitely precious to France.

"Plan Definite and Grand." The Journal, while approving the American proposals, set forth by Hughes, says that the problem confronting the conference in this respect is the attitude to be taken by Japan.

The Washington conference commenced with "a dramatic surprise," says the Temps, which calls Hughes' plan "at the same time definite and grand."

Some difficulties which the Temps sees in the way of the plan are, firstly, of a political nature: Great Britain will have to ask herself if the obstacles in the eyes of the dominions, second, of a technical nature: limiting of naval fleets for 10 years, it says, is senseless unless the capacity for construction is also limited; furthermore, limitation of armaments involves international control which must be organized outside the League of Nations, to which the United States does not belong. Finally, new methods of destruction may be invented.

Outline of Results.

The Temps outlines the result of the plan in this way: "Under Mr. Hughes' proposals there would be three main fleets, each with a special sphere of action—England in the Eastern Atlantic, the North Sea, the Baltic, the Indian Ocean and the Mediterranean; America in a great part of the Pacific; Japan in the seas of the Far East. This puts China in the Japanese sphere."

It adds: "This astonishing beginning of the Washington conference indicates the practical idealism lying so close to American hearts."

The Journal des Debats says the Hughes plan involves the abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, subordination of the Americans' plan "at the same time definite and grand."

Some difficulties which the Temps sees in the way of the plan are, firstly, of a political nature: Great Britain will have to ask herself if the obstacles in the eyes of the dominions, second, of a technical nature: limiting of naval fleets for 10 years, it says, is senseless unless the capacity for construction is also limited; furthermore, limitation of armaments involves international control which must be organized outside the League of Nations, to which the United States does not belong. Finally, new methods of destruction may be invented.

References to Tonnage.

Jacques Bainville, editor of La Liberté, says the tonnage proposed by Secretary Hughes indicates that the United States means to retain the advance and superiority it has over Japan.

"If the hypothesis is admissible that the British forces will join the Japanese," says the writer, "the United States would be in a position of manifest inferiority. Hence it is not difficult to understand that one of the most important points in the American policy is the rupture of the Anglo-Japanese treaty."

"The leading interest in the conference will lie in this: "Secretary Hughes' plan is a great proposal," says the Journal des Debats, "will put the United States in a favorable position in the eyes of the whole world. Such a proposal, to which diplomacy is accustomed, may therefore be subtle."

Protest Against Greek Action

COMMITTEE URGES PUBLIC TO SUPPORT PURE MILK BILL
Appeal Asks That Citizens Appear Before Aldermen and Demand That Measure Be Passed.
LETTER ALSO SENT TO ALDERMEN
Board's Attention Called to Disease Dangers Compulsory Pasteurization Would Eliminate.

An appeal to the citizens of St. Louis to interest themselves in bringing about the passage of the milk bill, now in the hands of the Public Welfare Committee of the Board of Aldermen, has been issued by the Citizens' Milk Committee, of which Mrs. N. G. Seelig of 4952 Parkview place is chairman.

The Board of Aldermen holds its next meeting at 4 p. m., Friday, and the committee which has the bill could report it for action at that time. One public hearing has been held, attended chiefly by interested dairymen.

The appeal of the Citizens' Milk Committee to the public is:

To the citizens of St. Louis: The Department of Agriculture, the Committee of Public Welfare and the Health Commissioner are all earnestly supporting the new milk bill before the Board of Aldermen. It is your turn, citizens of St. Louis, to do your share. If you want pure milk, say so. How? Appear before the Board of Aldermen in such numbers and determination that the bill must pass. CITIZENS' MILK COMMITTEE.

Letter Sent to Aldermen.
The committee has sent to each member of the Board of Aldermen the following letter:

"Many outbreaks of typhoid, scarlet fever, diphtheria and septic sore throat have been caused by raw milk, and even by certified milk. Ninety per cent of human tuberculosis disclose evidences of an active or pre-existing tuberculosis. Tuberculosis is admittedly a deadly disease in cows. These cows give milk infected with the tubercle bacillus. The vast majority of human beings consume milk. It is a fair inference to assume that in addition to the 10 per cent of human tuberculosis, directly traceable to milk, there is a much larger, so-called silent percentage, that cannot be directly traced or proved.

Milk Easily Infected.
"Of all foods, milk is the most easily infected and germs multiply very quickly to enormous numbers. Healthy adults may often take infected milk with impunity, but children, invalids and persons in a run-down condition, whose resistance to disease is low or impaired, may not so easily escape.

"Even milk labeled 'pasteurized' may not be properly pasteurized. St. Louis has no law as yet compelling the proper handling and pasteurization of all milk (except certified and reliable authorities advise against using even this raw). Cleveland, Cincinnati and Indianapolis have compulsory pasteurization. The new milk bill about to come before you will make it possible if passed and enforced to procure pure milk, properly controlled. The Federal Department of Agriculture, your own Committee of Public Welfare and the Health Commissioner have proclaimed the urgent need of this bill, which among many wise provisions insists upon the pasteurization of all milk (except certified). The Health Commissioner will enforce the bill if you pass it and if the Board of Estimate and Apportionment endows it. The citizens of St. Louis want this bill passed and enforced.

"Yours is the enviable privilege of giving to your constituents pure milk."

Signed by Several Doctors.
The letter to the Aldermen is signed by Mrs. Seelig, as chairman of the Citizens' Milk Committee, and by Dr. William McKim Marriott, chief St. Louis Children's Hospital; Dr. Nathaniel Allison, dean Washington University Medical School; Dr. Emmet P. North, president St. Louis Medical Society; Dr. Llewellyn Sale, associate physician Jewish Hospital; Charles Diehl, Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. George Dock, Consumers' League; Mrs. Frank Gladney, League of Women Voters; Mrs. I. S. Payne, president Eighth District Federated Clubs, and Mrs. A. I. Bauman, president Council Jewish Women.

STEEL PLANT RESUMES OPERATION

The company started in September to place the plant in operation, but the condition of the steel market caused a change in plans. The plant manufactures railroad equipment.

Aged, Wrinkled Faces Easily Rejuvenated

An aged face is often only a mask to a comparatively youthful person. Beauty is a countenance young and fair to look upon. It's a simple matter to remove the mask. Ordinary marcelled wax, to be had at any drugstore, gradually absorbs the worn-out surface skin; in a week or two the user has the loveliest pinky white complexion imaginable. An ounce of the wax usually is sufficient to complete the transformation. It is put on at night like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water.

This remarkable treatment is invariably effective, no matter how deeply sunken or discolored the complexion. Chaps, freckles, moth patches, liver spots, pimples and other cutaneous blemishes naturally vanish with the discarded skin.

To remove wrinkles, here is a recipe that cannot be too highly recommended: Powdered milk, one ounce, dissolved in one-half pint of witch hazel. Use as a wash lotion. It acts immediately and is wonderfully effective.

OFFICERS OF RAILWAY UNIONS IN CONFERENCE AT CHICAGO

Warren S. Stone of Engineers' Brotherhood Declines to Discuss Purpose of Meeting.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers; Timothy Shea, vice-president of the Brotherhood, and a number of general chairmen and other officials of the two brotherhoods went into conference here this afternoon. Stone and Carter refused to discuss the purpose of the conference or say whether it had any connection with the recent threatened railroad strike.

T. C. Cashen, president of the Switchmen's Union of North America, arrived at 1 o'clock and joined the other union presidents.

"We are just getting ready to meet," Stone said, "and I have nothing to say at this time. It is possible we may have a statement to issue to the public at the conclusion of our conference."

Asked if he could give some hint as to the subject to be discussed, he replied:

"Absolutely not."

Overseas Veteran Killed by Fall.

FALSTAFF BEER BEING BOTTLED FOR MEDICINAL PURPOSES

St. Louis Corporation Advised by State Prohibition Director That Permit Will Be Issued.

The Falstaff Corporation, which has a brewery at 3663 Forest Park boulevard, today announced that it was bottling beer of approximately 4 1/2 per cent alcoholic content to be sold to druggists under the permit authorizing the prescribing of beer for the sick. The corporation said it had been advised by State Prohibition Director Allen, with headquarters in Kansas City, that a permit to manufacture beer for this purpose would be issued to the corporation.

The beer is being put up in pint and quart bottles from stock already on hand. Oscar B. Fischer, city sales manager for the Falstaff Corporation, said about 25 orders from druggists had been received, but that these would not be filled until the orders had been forwarded to Director Allen for his approval. Druggists who sell beer will be required to put up additional bond to assure their compliance with the law and must keep a record of all beer purchases and sales.

At the Federal Building today it was said no provision had been made for giving physicians additional prescription forms for use in prescribing beer. Under the Volstead act, a physician may use only 100 blanks in a period of three months.

FACTS IN HOSPITAL SITUATION HERE ARE MADE KNOWN

Hawes Submits to Col. Forbes Report Showing Overcrowded Condition Exists in St. Louis District.

220 PATIENTS BEING SENT AWAY MONTHLY

Many Cases Are Being Cared For in Contract Hospitals and Other Veterans Are Still Awaiting Beds.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A statement of facts which he said was indisputable, showing hospital conditions in the St. Louis district, was submitted today to Col. C. R. Forbes, head of the Veterans' Bureau, by Representative Hawes of St. Louis.

"The facts prove beyond doubt that an emergency exists in so far as hospital facilities are concerned and if existing regulations are followed, the Ninth District is entitled to a new Government hospital to care for disabled ex-service men and women," said Hawes.

Receiving complaints that men were not being accorded hospital treatment, Hawes started an investigation. He said in so far as he could learn every man entitled to treatment was receiving it without an exception, but the Ninth District officials were seriously handicapped in their efforts along this line.

Some of the facts disclosed.

The facts, as presented to Col. Forbes by Congressman Hawes, disclosed:

1. That 220 patients are being transferred out of the district monthly away from their homes and relatives because of lack of facilities.
2. Because of lack of hospital facilities 237 mental and nervous claimants are now hospitalized in contract hospitals (for which the Government is required to pay).
3. One hundred and sixty-one tubercular patients are now hospitalized in contract hospitals because of lack of Government facilities.
4. The colored ward at hospital No. 35, 5300 Arsenal street, St. Louis, cannot admit any more patients, as this ward now is filled to capacity.
5. The Chest ward at hospital No. 35, where men are sent to determine whether they have tuberculosis, is filled to capacity.
6. At the present time 29 men awaiting beds and diagnosis will be provided with transportation as soon as beds are available. These men are at their homes, suspected of having tuberculosis, and it is reasonable to assume they should be under the care and observation of specialists with a view to determining their exact condition.
7. The bed capacity of hospital No. 35 is 600. It was never originally intended for a Government hospital, was loaned to the Government by the city to assist in the care of disabled men during the war, and does not satisfactorily meet the needs of the Government in the care of patients.

"No Criticism Intended."

Hawes said he did not present the facts in a spirit of criticism. He added:

"The entire delay in providing for a new Government hospital in St. Louis up to the time Col. Forbes decided to investigate available sites at St. Louis, Excelsior Springs, Kansas City, Mo., and Leavenworth, Kan., according to the head of the Hospital Committee, was because the Veterans' Bureau had not certified to the board that an emergency existed."

"The facts as presented do show that an emergency exists and if Col. Forbes is not in possession of the information from official sources an investigation will determine the statements are absolutely correct."

"An official recommendation showing the emergency is all that is necessary to get funds allocated for a new hospital in our district."

1000 Claims Filed Daily.

"Col. Forbes is personally responsible for the statements that more than 800,000 compensation claims have been filed and that they were coming in two weeks ago at the rate of 1000 per day. This indicates that conditions will become worse, for each man must be examined when he files his claim and the great majority of them must be hospitalized in order to determine a proper diagnosis."

"The average man knows that a tubercular subject must not only receive treatment but a change of climate. Still my statement shows no beds are available in the Ninth District for this purpose and at the close of last week they had 29 men awaiting call. Congress has appropriated the money. Another bill is pending, and if facts, such as I present are officially furnished the Appropriations Committee, I say without fear of contradiction that not a man in the House or Senate would refuse to vote for an immediate appropriation, if funds available are not sufficient."

Hawes did not take up with Col. Forbes the question of location in his statement, but confined his communication to conditions. As is known, St. Louis is contending for a new army hospital to be erected at Jefferson Barracks.

One Shampoo Proves

How the action of Palm and Olive oils transforms your hair

It is interesting to watch the transformation in the appearance of your hair when you shampoo with Palmolive. To discover how glossy and soft it becomes, how fluffy without dryness.

Notice how thoroughly Palmolive cleanses your scalp from all dirt, oil and dandruff. This is the secret of healthy hair. And healthy hair means beauty.

A blend of Palm and Olive oils

The softening effects of olive oil are responsible for the gloss and softness. It produces a mild, penetrating lather which softens and relaxes the scalp and enters each root and hair cell.

The accumulations of dirt and oil are thoroughly removed, not only from the surface but from the tissue of the scalp. Dandruff is penetrated and removed.

Palm oil contributes richness and body to this lather and makes it lasting. Both oils have been famous since Cleopatra's day for their softening, relaxing qualities which no others possess in the same degree.

Prevents dandruff

Dandruff, which doctors call seborrhea and says causes most hair troubles, is not removed by most shampoos.

The dry, oily scales are impervious to usual cleansing. It only makes them more powdery and flaky so that many people think shampooing makes dandruff worse.

But they must be got rid of some way, if you want to keep your hair. Dandruff packs around the roots and interferes with nutrition. This makes even the normal secretion found on every scalp, dangerous to hair health.

The softening, penetrating lather produced by the blending of palm and olive oils loosens the scales, dislodges them from the scalp. The delicate organism of each hair is free for healthy activity.

LABOR LEADERS SPEAK FROM MANY PULPITS IN BOSTON

Many Troubles Attributed to Modern Lack of Personal Touch of Employer in Business.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Labor leaders mounted pulpits in nearly a score of churches in and near Boston yesterday to preach on religious ideals in industrial relations. Through the agency of the Central Labor Union and the Greater Boston Federation of Churches, union heads spoke in Congregational, Baptist, Methodist and Universalist edifices and a synagogue.

Enlargement of the field of the church to watch over the material side of life among the workers was urged generally. Fred J. Kneeland, former president of the Painters' and Decorators' Union, speaking in the First Baptist Church, at Watertown, attributed many of labor's troubles to the modern lack of the personal touch of the employer in his business.

ST. LOUIS LEGISLATORS FOR POLICE INCREASE

Caucus Held on Bill at Instigation of Delegation Headed by Mayor Kiel.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 14.—
A caucus of St. Louis members of the Senate and House of Representatives, this afternoon, voted to recommend that legislation for an increase of 215 members in the St.
Louis police force should be included in the business of the present special session. Speaker O'Fall-lon of the House said he would ask this afternoon for an expression of the House on the matter, to indicate whether the measure, when submitted, would get enough votes for passage.

The caucus of St. Louis members was held, at the instance of a visiting St. Louis delegation, after Gov.
Hyde had said to the delegation that he would submit the proposed legislation if the delegation could get enough members to pledge themselves to vote for the measure, and to stay in Jefferson City for the five days that it would take to get it through.

Mayor Kiel heads the delegation, which also includes William Sacks, banker and Republican politician;
K. F. Neimoller, secretary and C. E.
Williams of the Associated Retailers, both Republicans; and George W.
Strodtmann, chairman of the Republican City Committee.

Leaders Promise Co-Operation.
Speaker O'Fallon and Republican Floor Leader Morgan of the House, and Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd, presiding officer of the Senate, all Republicans, promised their co-operation.

At a morning caucus, Mayor Kiel, Strodtmann, Neimoller and Williams and Sacks all spoke, voicing their reasons for asking for expansion of the police force. Mayor Kiel said that if the legislators refused to consider the urgent plea for more policemen, that they must shoulder the responsibility for conditions which might arise through an insufficient police force.

Representative Smith declared he would oppose the bill on the floor if it is introduced, reviewing the attitude of the police force towards salu-ary increases which had been voted to members of the force, its refusal to respect the emergency clause on the last salary increase bill, and declared that the "savings," of which the police board boasts, had come partly out of the pockets of the policemen. He asserted that he did not intend to aid in bringing an increase in taxes for this purpose, for which he had heard no great demand.

Representative Manning also announced opposition to the measure, telling how policemen were being stationed in saloons in Carondelet for the entire period of their shift, to see that no intoxicants are being sold.

Representative Eigel said that he had opposed the idea because he viewed it as "passing the buck."
"I have said that President Miller has an affliction of the mouth and that if Dr. Hyde would give him a prescription to stop that, we would have a more efficient force," said Eigel. "Miller has gone about advertising how crime has decreased in St. Louis. Now he finds that it hasn't, that crime is on the upgrade, and here he comes with a demand for more policemen."

Eigel asserted that if the board wants more policemen, it has authority under a clause in the statutes to put them on.
The Mayor disagreed with Eigel as to power of the board to put on more patrolmen under the emergency clause of the statutes, saying that the present conditions of crime have grown up gradually out of unemployment and difficulty might ensue if the board held that an emergency now exists.

Notte Tells Legislators City's Finances Won't Meet Increase.

Comptroller Notte, who is a member of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which regulates the handling of city funds, today sent the following telegram to the St.
Louis members of the Legislature:
"Regardless of any representation that may be made to you as to the necessity for an addition to our police force, I am anxious to have you realize that the city's finances are not in condition to justify an increase in any of its departments until means are provided for increasing the revenue from other than present sources, and at this time such provision is extremely remote."

"There was a deficit of more than $1,000,000 in the city's general revenue at the close of last year, and instead of adding to it by increasing the personnel of any departments we should be given a chance to get out of debt and to discontinue adding more taxes to the already heavily burdened taxpayers, the great majority of whom are not rent profit-ers."

After ascertaining from President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen, who with the Mayor and himself constitute the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, that he had not been consulted about the proposed increase in the police force, Notte said that the Mayor must have ignored the board.

"He seems to have formed a new Board of Estimate and Apportionment with William Sacks, who has been busy trying to help the city spend its money," said Notte. "If the police bill is passed it will add $326,000 to the annual expenses of the city."

THE DAVEY TREE EXPERT CO. FILED suit in the United States District Court today against Stanley H. Brown of St. Louis for an accounting and damages for alleged infringement of a patent held by Wellington
E. Davey of Kent, O., for reinforcing trees.
The suit was filed in the court in Martinsburg, W. Va., where the patent is registered, and Brown has been using it without authority.

New Orleans Hit by Storm.
By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 14.—After leveling a brick prize-fight arena in the course of construction at Con-and North Roman streets and causing the steamboat Houma to break from her moorings near the head of Canal street, a windstorm that broke over the city last night moved uptown and blew down electric light, walls of the prize-fight arena, known as the Coliseum, were 35 feet high.

Electric light wires were blown down, putting many uptown sections in darkness for several hours.

"Your Pretty Teeth—What have you done to them?"

There is a new way of teeth cleaning—a way which fights film. To millions of people it has brought whiter, prettier teeth. Also safer teeth and cleaner.

You see the results in every circle—see them in glistening teeth.

This is to urge that you try this method.
Ask for a ten-day test. Then mark the change which you see and your friends see.

It combats the film
Most teeth are clouded more or less by film. The film is viscous. You can feel it with your tongue. But it clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. And it often forms the basis of fixed coats.

The ordinary tooth paste does not end film.
The tooth brush has left much of it intact.
The film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Thus millions of teeth have lost their natural luster.

How film ruins teeth
Film does more than mar the beauty. It is now regarded as the cause of most tooth troubles.

Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of other serious troubles, local and internal.

These troubles have been constantly increasing. So dental science has long been seeking ways to fight that film.

A daily combatant
Two effective methods have now been found to daily combat that film. Able authorities have amply proved them. Millions now employ them. And leading dentists everywhere are helping to spread their use.

The methods are combined in Pepsodent, a new-day dentifrice. The results are quickly seen and felt, so they cannot be disputed.
That is the tooth paste we urge you to try.
And we send a test tube free.

Also aids Nature
Nature places in the mouth great teethprotecting agents. But with modern diet, rich in starch, those forces need constant stimulation. Pepsodent supplies that stimulation. This is in keeping with the views of dental authorities.

It multiplies the salivary flow. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise cling and form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva.
That is Nature's agent for neutralizing acids which cause tooth decay.

Each use of Pepsodent increases these forces, and the excess remains for some time.
These effects alone, in dental opinion, mean a new era in tooth protection.

No soap—no chalk Soap and chalk are omitted from Pepsodent, to accord with modern dental requirements. No tooth paste which contains them can bring Pepsodent effects.

Pepsodent is the scientific tooth paste—the new-day method of teeth cleaning. Authorities say that it should supplant the methods which are wrong.

The reasons are told in a book we send.
The 10-Day Tube reveals the effects. You will know what is best in a week.

Men see the results very quickly
Smokers' teeth are often particularly dis-colored. The film absorbs the stains. The results of film removal are usually quick and conspicuous.

Most children suffer from these film attacks. Few reach the age of 15 with sound teeth. Dentists advise that Pepsodent be used twice daily, from the time the first tooth appears. No ordinary tooth paste offers anywhere near such protection.

Ten days will tell Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note

MELODRAMA LEADS ON MOVIE PROGRAMS

"Why Girls Leave Home," "Pilgrims of the Night" and "Conquest of Canaan" Are Picture Features.

In "The Conquest of Canaan," a screen translation of Booth Tarkington's novel, the Missouri Theater this week offers a picture of rare merit. In addition to possessing romantic qualities of a high order, the story is a searching and accurate portrayal of the bigoted persecution which the small town visits on the "unrespectables."

Here we have "Main Street" in all its glory, with "Respectability" incarnated in the august person of Judge Pike, who owns the newspaper, the hotel, the bank, and less respectable places. He is a pillar of the church, the barometer of business, the oracle of all wisdom, and the fount of all authority in Canaan. The Judge is respectable from his sideburns to his Congressional gaiters. He is a petty tyrant, a whitened sepulchre and a potential murderer, but he is respectable.

As Joe Loudon remarks: "It looks like the more things one has to be ashamed of, the more respectable he is." Joe is one of the "unrespectables," a sort of beloved vagabond whose presence in Canaan is a source of irritation to Judge Pike. The latter eventually gets rid of him, too, but some years later Joe comes back, and that is when the conquest of Canaan occurs. There is a fine girl in the story—Ariel Tabor, who inherits the fortune of her skinflint uncle, and goes to Paris. Canaan surrenders to her without a struggle when she returns, but no such easy victory awaits Loudon. In the end, Judge Pike is effectually crushed and Canaan has a new hero, although, of course, it will in due time find another equally innocent object of its petty malice.

Thomas Meighan has the role of Joe Loudon, and Doris Kenyon is Ariel. The parts are adequately taken. Once more, this picture emphasizes how easy it is to make good films when there is worthy material for a story.

"Why Girls Leave Home." Those who saw "Way Down East" will extract a great deal of amusement from the comedy feature on the Liberty Theater bill this week. This is an Al St. John picture called "The Happy Feet," which has for its climax a take-off on the great Griffith film. The burlesque of the ice floe scene is screamingly funny. St. John makes the hero of "Way Down East" look like a piker. In his first attempt to save the girl he is carried over the falls, but that doesn't phase him. He swims up the falls stopping on the way to roll and smoke a cigarette, and he rescues the girl from a cake of ice which is teetering on the brink. It is notable that every illusive effect used by Griffith is successfully duplicated in this comedy.

The feature offering on the Liberty bill is a highly melodramatic picture entitled "Pilgrims of the Night." In plot and handling it differs materially from the stage play of the same name. The heroine role is played by Anna Q. Nilsson, a screen beauty with considerable acting ability. The story follows the fortunes of two girls who leave home, one because of the strictness of her father and the other because of the overindulgence of her every whim by her wealthy parents has made her willful and headstrong. There are several cabaret scenes. The poor girl saves the rich girl from the consequences of her folly and in the end each girl is welcomed back to her home. The settings and photography are excellent and the interest is well sustained.

Theda Bara at New Grand Central. Theda Bara, appearing in person, has been made the week's headliner at the New Grand Central and the West End Lyric. As was noted when she appeared on the stage in "The Blue Flame," this famous "movie vampire" suffers from the handicap of a high-pitched and at times squeaky voice which unfits her for the speaking stage. She is now announcing that she is going back into the movies. At each appearance she asks whether her hearers would rather see her in "vamp" roles or in other parts. Thus far the "ayes" have it for "vamp" roles.

The picture feature at the New Grand Central is "Pilgrims of the Night," with Ruby de Rener as the star. This is a highly emotional story in which English and French detectives are in keen rivalry. It is a screen version of E. Phillips Oppenheim's novel, "Passers By." The heroine has been adopted by an international crook and thinks he is her father. Her real father mortally wounds the international crook, who, when dying, makes her swear she will kill his slayer. She pursues her father to England, where a British criminologist clears everything up.

At the West End Lyric the feature is Wanda Hawley in "Face Value," the story of a chorus girl whose press agent husband runs away because he has to support her sponging father and brother. This cardinals her ambition and she goes out "just like that" and achieves fame as a movie star. It is a rather light vehicle, but amusing in spots.

WOMEN AND HUMOR IN "TWO BLOCKS AWAY"

More, With Aid of Barney
Bernard, Poverty Gives K. O.
Wallop to Wealth.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.
The moment Robert Ives sauntered into Nate Pomeroy's second-hand shoe shop in Second street, you are certain he cannot be a poor young man. His hair is combed to a glister, his trousers are pressed, his oxford shoes are polished. Very different from the ragged, shabby, and shabby-looking "honest" or ungrammatical "honest" who appears in all the scoundrelly and scoundrelous of evening clothes, it is evident that only a miracle can preserve him from the penitentiary.

Quite otherwise is it with young Tom Roland, recently made foreman of the machine shop, who also is one of nature's gentlemen. You can read it in his noble, unassuming face, in his ready-made suit, with the tag still elegantly attached; in his graceful way of clutching a cane of candy under an arm-pit, and in the stammering which attacks him when he speaks of pretty Jane, adopted daughter of Nate.

Such are the rivals in Aaron's "Two Blocks Away," which opened at the American Theater last night, and which presents Barney Bernard, after eight seasons as Abe Potash, in an adaptation David Wardfield, the Jewish shoemaker on New York's East Side. Nine parts of the play is nevertheless highly entertaining, thanks to a book with a "yes" in nearly every line.

From Poverty to Fortune.
As the play opens, Nate Pomeroy has been so magnanimous and generous during many years as to lend shoes for the whole neighborhood without pay, with the result that he hasn't enough money to buy a pair for his own and his ward's shoes.

Enter the villainous young lawyer, Ives, with whom Nate has been heir to $250,000. The fact that he is rich instantly converts the cobbler into a wicked but rational being. He sees his neighbors as the spongers and weaklings they really are, and changes his mind about the meanings of penury, which he perceives is a modern form of serfdom; and forsakes his saintly squalor as soon as possible for the magnificent and cleanliness of a mansion, "two blocks away."

In fact, Nate is no longer imposed upon by the preacher that weakens, improvidence and ignorance are superior to strength, thrift and industry. He is no longer a victim of the English servants whose landlords taught them to pray God to make them content with the station to which it had pleased Him to call them.

For this rebellion he is severely punished. His daughter, who he has sent to Europe for the creditable purpose of wearing her away from the Second Avenue boobies, accuses him of heartlessness and abandons him. His health breaks down, and he is desolated with drams. He sees ghosts in a mirror, smashes the glass with a cane, and staggers forth into the rain—real rain, for you see the drops shining on Bernard's coat when he recovers sufficiently to make a curtain speech.

In the third act, the repentant Nate is back on Second avenue, having discovered as a crowning blow that his wealth really belongs to another. The erudite Ives has taken to flight, Tom and Jane are in each other's arms, and the former cobbler, a little tattered from hootch administered for a cold caught in the rain, has a touching curtain scene, with him lights and the others looking admiringly on. "It is not what you have here," he proclaims to the world in vibrato tones, patting his pocket, "but what you have here (with a clutch in the direction of the cardiac region) that makes you rich."

Needless to say, these sentiments do not prevent Nate from ending as a wealthy man. How otherwise could there be a happy finale? By taking the other man's money, Nate has made an extra million through manufacturing shoes for the proletariat at $3 a pair. There is every evidence that virtue will be rewarded, and that the former cobbler will be permitted to keep his million.

HUNDREDS TURNED AWAY AT SYMPHONY "POP" CONCERT

Second Sunday Program Marked by Scholarly Playing of High-Grade Works.

With every seat in the Odeon taken, and several hundred turned away at the door, Conductor Ganz directed his second popular concert yesterday afternoon in scholarly style. His program contained two numbers of highest grade, the Largo from Beethoven's Second Symphony and the Prelude to "Lohengrin."

Elgar's march, "Pomp and Circumstance," and Liszt's Second Hungarian Rhapsody, usually regarded as a show piece, would almost justify a conductor in resorting to bombast and fury. But Director Ganz wielded his drums and brasses cautiously, with the result that he achieved great vigor without once stepping outside of music. The rhapsody has incidents of genuine musical value, and these were unusually well interpreted. John F. Kiburz played the flute cadenza like an artist. The other orchestral number was the "Algerian Suite" of Saint-Saens.

Mrs. Helen Traubel Carpenter, St. Louis soprano, was soloist, offering the aria, "In quelle tinte moribonde," from Puccini's "Manon," and a group of songs with piano accompaniment. Her lyric voice proved unusually sweet and pure, save for a couple of its highest notes, and she sang often very expressively. For the first time, Director Ganz played the first orchestral accompaniment of his career, not with the happiest results. He turned his back upon the singer, instead of watching her breathing, so that the phrasing was not always identical. One of her songs, a brief and quaint bit, was "Who Goes?" by Mrs. Ellis Fischel of this city.

CHICAGO OPERA SEASON OPENS WITH RECORD SUBSCRIPTIONS

Director Mary Garden Stages "Samson and Delilah" as First Offering.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Chicago music lovers have deposited more than $350,000 with the Chicago Opera Association as their retainers for the coming season of grand opera, which begins here tonight. This is the largest advance subscription the institution has registered for any season since it was founded in 1910.

General Director Mary Garden, who took the reins toward the last of last season, has chosen operas for the first week which represent equally the French and Italian schools, and expects to maintain these proportions throughout the season, with occasional interpolations of Wagner and Strauss operas in German.

The offering tonight will be "Samson and Delilah," with the French tenor, Lucien Muratore, as Samson, and Marguerite D'Alvarez, Peruvian contralto, as Delilah. Giorgi Polacco, who has returned as chief conductor after an absence of two years, will direct the opening performance. Miss Garden returned from Europe recently bringing a score of new artists to strengthen the organization, six of whom will make their debuts in the first week. These include Lina Cavalieri, prima donna with the Metropolitan and Boston Opera companies; Edith Mason, American lyric soprano; Eleanor Reynolds, American contralto; Jeanne Schneider, French soprano, and Paul Payan, French basso; and Adolfo Farrari, Italian conductor, from La Scala, Milan.

Ask, "Who wants Heinz Baked Beans?" and all hands go up. With good reason too. The taste is unforgettable. The reason lies in the oven baking—dry heat ovens as of old.

But the delicacy of the dish is enhanced by the luscious tomato sauce which Heinz makes so well from the choicest red ripe tomatoes.

It is a mighty good food for growing children—and for you, whoever you are.

We Take It That The Paulians Beat Springfield, St. Leos and Gillespie Tie in Second Round Soccer Games

Foul in Last Half-Minute of Regular Time Forces Municipal Eleven to Accept 1-1 Draw in U. S. F. A. Cup Contest — Paulians Win 1-0 — 2500 Persons See Double-Header.

A foul by Halfback Frank Clark in the last half minute of regular time, from which Alex Young shot the subsequent goal, forced the St. Louis Municipal Eleven to accept a 1-1 tie with Gillespie, Ill. In the second round U. S. F. A. cup game at Sportsman's Park yesterday, the Paulians, the other Municipal entry, defeated the Springfield (Ill.) Paulians, 1-0, in the second clash. The final game was called by Referee Billy Bascom with 20 minutes of the closing period remaining, because of darkness.

A crowd estimated at 2500 witnessed the double-header. It was the first time out-of-town aggregations have appeared in St. Louis this season. While Clark's foul enabled the Gillespie team to tie and play an extra 30 minutes which passed without a score, sensational goal guarding by Arthur Waine, especially during the second period, kept the local Municipal players from running up a much larger score. In the second half the St. Leos took 13 shots at goal and of this number eight were cleared by Waine. Some of them were difficult.

Some Wild Shooting. The Leo forwards, who exhibited a nice passing game, also lost many opportunities because of wild shooting. On yesterday's showing Eugene McMahon, playing at inside-left forward, is the best shot on the Leo eleven. He scored the lone goal for his team, and several other attempts were cleared. The left side of the Leo attacking line seemed to work much better than the right.

At the start of the game it appeared that the St. Louisians would have a runaway affair of the contest. After five minutes had been played, Dan Kineally shot one from the right side, which went straight into Waine's hands. After this the two teams battled without great advantage to either side, until after 30 minutes.

After Waine gave the Leo an opportunity when he left his goal unguarded. Despite the fact that three local forwards were in front of the upright, the attempt at goal went over the cross bar. Walkerford, Leo goal keeper, got his first work a minute before the period ended when

Strong Defensive Work of Illinois Team Holds Paulians to Single Goal

Although the Paulians outplayed the Springfield team, a good defense, coupled with the work of Thomas Abene, an experienced fullback, who continually played the locals offside, kept the Paulians from scoring during the first half. The Paulians started with a brilliant attack, and in the opening few minutes, "Goalie" J. Martin was on the ground in front of his upright. During the scramble, some one stepped on Martin's hand, injuring it.

Goals and offside were more frequent than shots at goal during the period. The Paulians had five shots at goal and the visitors three. The Paulians had six fouls and four offside. The aliens had four fouls and two were offside. Neither was able to put a really dangerous shot near the goal in the opening half.

With the start of the second, the Paulians rushed down the field, and after three minutes of play, scored a goal. The goal was scored by Dan Quinn, who proved to be the winning goal. Quinn crossed the ball over from the right wing to Monahan, who banged it past Martin. For the greater part of the time thereafter, play was in Springfield territory. However, the visitors threw a strong defense in front of the goal and no more scores came.

The Springfield players had two chances to tally, but failed to take advantage of either opening. After 25 minutes of the period had been played, it became so dark that it was almost impossible to see across the field and Referee Bascom called off

Sidelights on U. S. Cup Contests

During an hour and 15 minutes without a rest proved too much for the St. Leo players in the first game and time had to be taken out several times because players suffered with cramps in their legs. Kineally was down at one time and it looked as though he would be unable to continue. McMahon was forced to quit four times. Young of the visitors was accidentally kicked in the stomach and had to take time out.

Don Scully, who played inside left for Gillespie, is 40. His roughing angered the Leo in the second extra period and Kineally grabbed him by the throat. After Kineally let go, Jim Burke got after the visitors, a short, stocky individual. However, Scully made no comeback. For a time it looked as though Jim Burke would not get through the contest without a fight. He was in several arguments and once was stopped by Linesman Dick Wall.

James Martin, the Springfield "goalie," wears a mustache. He made a wicked kick and is a good goalkeeper. He seemed greatly surprised by the rushing tactics of the local players.

In all probability, the contest between the Leo and Gillespie will be played next Sunday. Gillespie has the choice of grounds and the Leo may be forced to go to the Municipal Ground to play the battle.

Walking Record Broken. NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A new American record for the 15-mile walk was set yesterday by William Plant, Morningstar Athletic Club veteran, who negotiated the distance in 2:05:37.5, winning the Metropolitan A. A. U. championship. The old mark of 2:08:13.5 was made by Plant in 1918. William Rolker, national 15-mile walking champion, finished second, more than 400 yards behind Plant.

ALDRICH OF YALE LEADS EAST IN POINT SCORING

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Capt. Malcolm Aldrich of Yale, whose two field goals helped to defeat Princeton at New Haven Saturday, still is the leading point scorer of major football teams of the East. He has made nine touchdowns, 17 goals from the field and four goals from the foot for a total of 50 points. Capt. Jim Robertson of Dartmouth, is second, with 35 points, and Lightner of Penn State, third, with 30.

TEAM PLAYS TWO GAMES WITHOUT SUBSTITUTIONS

Cornell, Yale and Penn State Lead Title Aspirants

Others Still in the Running, but It Is Doubtful if They Could Cope With Three Named.

By John E. Wray.

The annual guessing contest as to the football champions of the year, sectional and national, will have but one more phase before the season closes. At the present writing the chance to decisively name U. S. or even conference winners is very slim, in most cases, with one more lap to run the situation after last Saturday's games stood about as follows:

Valley Conference—Nebraska head and shoulders the best. Far West—California-Stanford game of next Saturday will settle the title.

Southern Intercollegiate—Georgia Tech has only Auburn to beat. All-South—Centre College is already "in."

Big Ten—Ohio State, Iowa and Wisconsin deadlocked. Big Three—Yale best on form. But must beat Harvard.

All-East—Undecided between Cornell, Yale, Penn State and Lafayette. No chance to settle this issue.

All-America—Cornell, Yale, Penn State, Lafayette, Centre, Ohio State, Iowa and Coast Conference winner, all in the race, with no chance to determine the best eleven.

While technically the Western teams have a chance to defeat the East, and Chicago actually did down Princeton, it is an open question if any of the teams given a look-in for the U. S. leadership could cope with the first three named—Cornell, Yale and Penn State. If one had to make a guess the claims of these three are the only ones that could be substantiated by intelligently selected statistics.

Races to Close Saturday. Saturday will bring to a close almost all of the title races, a few games of the "annual" variety being scheduled for Thanksgiving day. So far the Missouri Valley race is concerned all the fighting that is to come is in vain, unless the forlorn hope Ames eleven can defeat Nebraska next Saturday. On scores Ames is hardly within 30 points of the powerful Cornhusker machine, which ranks with the best of the Middle West. The annual Missouri-Kansas struggle on Thanksgiving day will be meaningless from a title standpoint, both elevens having been defeated.

The conference this year would have been a wonderfully balanced race had it not been overshadowed by the Nebraska machine. There is very little difference in form today between Washington, Missouri, Oklahoma, Ames, Kansas, Aggies and Drake. With equal breaks the best of these teams is not two touchdowns better than the worst and comparative scores can make almost any team figure better than any other.

Washington is closing an astonishing season. Starting out like a lamb, it is finishing like a lion, with a wonderful prospect for next season. Kurrus, Knecht and Shanley will be lost among others, but for the most part the regulars will all return. A fine-looking squad of freshmen with two or three real stars on it, justifies hope of a fine season next year.

The standing of the Valley teams to date follows:

TEAM	Won	Lost
Nebraska	2	0
Missouri	2	0
Kansas Aggies	2	1
Oklahoma	2	2
Ames	2	3
Kansas	2	2
Washington	2	2
Drake	1	2
Grinnell	0	3

The Big Ten Situation. Iowa, unless the heavens fall, is certain to go through its season unbeaten with victories over four conference elevens and another over the rusty Notre Dame team, which crushed the Army. The Hawkeyes play Northwestern Saturday to close their season and figure to win by three or four touchdowns if their regulars play.

The standing of the Big Ten teams follows, only conference games being included:

TEAM	Won	Lost	Tied
Ohio State	4	0	0
Iowa	4	0	0
Wisconsin	3	1	1
Chicago	3	1	1
Michigan	1	1	1
Minnesota	2	3	0
Purdue	0	3	0
Indiana	0	3	0
Illinois	0	4	0
Northwestern	0	4	0

Scullins Defeat Ben Millers 4-2

Screw Co. Holds De Andreis to Draw in Other Tilt—Fullback Vaughan Injured.

The Scullins, last season's champions, defeated the Ben Millers, 4 to 2, while the Screw Co. and De Andreis elevens battled to a 0-0 tie, in the St. Louis Soccer League games at High School Field yesterday. De Andreis still leads, with eight points, while the Screw Co. is second with six. The Millers and Scullins are tied with three. The paid attendance totaled 1833.

A smooth-working forward line and ability to pass the Miller backs enabled the Scullins to trim the Millers. The only score in the first half went to the Millers, who equalized after McHenry and Dunn had carried the ball down field.

Charley Bechtold, the Scullins' forward, was injured shortly before the half close, but remained in the game. Soon after the second period opened, Tommy O'Hanlon passed to Bechtold, who in turn handed the ball to Cliff Brady, who equalized for the Scullins. Elmer Schwarz' speed gave the Scullins their second point. Cliff Brady and Bechtold scored the Move even a strong effort counted the final goal for the Millers.

While the Screw Co. had the advantage in the season's record, was a national goal guarding by Dave Bartlett kept the team from scoring. The De Andreis team play was broken up sharply after the game started, when Fullback Frank Vaughan went out with a wrenched knee. Examination showed the injury to be a serious one and Vaughan will be missing for some time.

Next Sunday, the professional teams will play second round U. S. F. A. cup games with the De Andreis opposing the Ben Millers and the Screw Co. tackling the Scullins.

Very strong Georgetown team showed that its fine season's record was earned. There is almost no doubt that it will rather handily defeat the Auburn eleven, which it faces on Thanksgiving day, and thus clinch the Southern Intercollegiate title. The overwhelming defeat of Georgia Tech by Penn State, followed by the Bechtold team's smash against the Navy Saturday, proves the formidable character of the so-called "Nittany Lions." The elevens that beats Penn State, or could beat it, would be about entitled to the Eastern championship. Cornell, of course, is unproven against the major elevens of the country. Its low score against Springfield was due to the use of secondary players. It plays Pennsylvania Saturday day—and on scores this game is a mere workout. Penn tied Dartmouth, while Cornell rolled up the amazing total of 59 points against the Dartmouth men.

Penn State's remaining game will be against Pittsburgh—another disappointing team—an eleven that has gone down to defeat three times and is due for another setback against Penn State.

Following its defeat of Syracuse by a tremendous score, Pitt appeared to have found itself, but defeats by Lafayette, Nebraska and W. and J. prove it has vital weaknesses.

Yale and Harvard will meet Saturday, and, of course, Yale is the favorite. A decisive trouncing of the Crimson would go far toward placing Yale back in its old position of the intercollegiate football world—a place it held undisputed for many seasons.

Rain Insurance on Tickets. By the Associated Press. STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Nov. 14.—For 50 cents extra, insurance against rain may be had on all tickets purchased for the "big game" between Stanford University and the University of California here next Saturday. This is the first game, it is thought, that spectators have been enabled to buy insurance against the weather. If it rains, the purchase price will be refunded if desired.

Peterson to Open Annex. Eugene Kreinhart, manager of Peterson's Billiard Hall, announced today that the annex, which will have eight pocket billiard tables, would be opened tomorrow. Peterson will install more billiard tables in his regular hall.

Football to Mark Time Here Until Thanksgiving Day

Collegiate City Championship and High School League Games Scheduled Then.

Washington and St. Louis University football teams, having ended their season's schedule except for their mutual engagement at Sportsman's Park, Thanksgiving Day, will bend every effort henceforth toward conditioning for the city championship struggle, which, next to the Missouri game, has been the best attended local contest in past seasons.

The Billikens had a "soft" game Friday, and did not suffer any setbacks. The team appears to be in good condition physically and it is common conversation in Washington circles that the Pikers must expect to face the powerful local field star, Drace, who was thought to be out for the season. Coach O'Rourke of St. Louis University does not think Drace will be able to play. A bone fracture is not easily restored, in a few weeks. There is little doubt among the Pikers that O'Rourke will have the strongest eleven he has had in the field this year, to pit against the Ekers.

St. Louis U. players were in the stands at Francis Field Saturday and watched the Washington evolutions closely. They saw an eye full of forward passing over the goal line that may give them food for thought and material for defensive practice.

However, the Pikers did not spring several of their powerful plays, especially those of the surprise nature, and only showed, with one exception, the passes they have used in every game here this year.

Two Pikers Injured. Kurrus and Thumser were the only injured men Saturday and both will be ready by Thanksgiving Day. It is anticipated. No practice will be held by the Washington regulars today, but tomorrow they will begin a strenuous campaign of secret preparation for the Thanksgiving' battle.

The same situation will prevail at Sportsman's Park, where the Billikens practice. Local amateur dopsters are paying no attention to comparative scores in estimating the probabilities of the two local elevens.

If they did, Washington would be a 4-to-1 shot on the comparative scores with Missouri. O'Rourke's team made a fair showing against the Pikers, a very strong eleven, and will have even a stronger eleven to send against Washington.

High School Title Settled. The high school season to all intents is over, with Soldan having won all its games (four). The final doubleheader of the season will be played Thanksgiving day. "Big Three" football history will be broken. No triangle series has ever resulted in a triple tie, such as would be the case were Harvard, already beaten by Princeton, which in turn was defeated by Yale, become victor in the final game.

No Crimson eleven has ever defeated Yale after losing to Princeton and no Yale team which has gone into its last match undefeated for the season has been beaten by Harvard.

Schaefer Is Hoppe's Closest Rival for Balkline Title

Charles Peterson, St. Louis Expert, Discusses Chances of Players in Greatest 18.2 Tournament Ever Held—Cochran and Conti Play First Match Tonight.

By Charles C. Peterson.

St. Louis Balkline Expert, Who Referenced the 1920 Championship Tournament.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Tonight in the Elizabethan room of the Congress Hotel seven great billiard stars will open a tournament at the Balkline for the championship of the world. Never has such an array of billiard experts met in competition to decide who shall be crowned the honors of the world.

William F. Hoppe, champion of the world, the greatest of all past and present; Edouard Horemans, champion of Europe; Roger Conti, champion of France; Jake Schaefer, son of the late cue wizard; Welker Cochran, Ora Morningstar, former champion, and George E. Sutton, are the entries.

The past two weeks these stars have been practicing as never before to put themselves in the best of condition for the big test. Hoppe wound up his exhibitions last Saturday and feels fit and ready. He rules a strong favorite to retain the title he has held for 15 years.

Schaefer Dangerous Rival. Schaefer, who has been showing sensational billiards during his try-outs and who last week had his credit runs of 363 and 430, is generally considered Hoppe's most dangerous rival, and rules second choice with Welker Cochran, who is in better condition than ever.

Horemans, the Belgian, has been doing wonderful things with the cue. His big runs and averages prove he is a dangerous player, but from my observations of this wonderful expert I am afraid he will crack under fire. Morningstar, a veteran of the old school, has been showing the best billiards of his career. He recently had runs of 424 and 448, and last week ran 796 in six innings.

Conti Looks Promising. Conti, the young Frenchman, has been practicing in private since his arrival from Paris, excepting a few games against amateur players at Milwaukee, in which he made a run of 224 and averaged 57 in 400 points. He has all the earmarks of a wonderful player. He is a very likable young man. His style is like the American method of short table play.

Sutton declares he feels sure of finishing one, two, three. Since the beginning of the work-out by the experts many unusually big runs have been made and there has been a lot of loose talk about these being records. The billiard lovers apparently never will learn that records have to be made in a bona fide competition to be valid. The same situation will prevail at Sportsman's Park, where the Billikens practice. Local amateur dopsters are paying no attention to comparative scores in estimating the probabilities of the two local elevens.

If they did, Washington would be a 4-to-1 shot on the comparative scores with Missouri. O'Rourke's team made a fair showing against the Pikers, a very strong eleven, and will have even a stronger eleven to send against Washington.

THE greatest balkline billiard tournament of all time is in progress in Chicago this week.
 The seven leading stars of the world are entered.

There is a chance that the famous Willie Hoppe, champion for 15 years, may be defeated.
 To report the 21 games to be played, the Post-Dispatch has engaged Charles Peterson of St.
 Louis, referee of the championship tournament of 1920, and himself one of the foremost players of the United States, as all branches of play.

Peterson will not only analyze the play of the various contestants, but will illustrate his points with diagrams of unusual plays that may feature the contests.

The question is asked, will the runs be made against Hoppe?
 The answer is, I am in doubt whether they will stand the bucking of a player of Hoppe's brilliancy and staying powers. There is this but Hoppe that makes him the most dreaded player—he shows his greatest games just at a time when the greatest danger of being beaten.

Where Hoppe is Best.
 In Philadelphia recently, the writing scored 134 and the inning which allowed saw Willie going out with an unfinished run of 163. Again, in Detroit, I scored 185; Willie returned 224. Last Thursday I started with 67 and followed with 222 two innings later and led Hoppe 301 to 200. Two innings later the game was tied. Willie always rises to emergency.

Nothing unforeseen happens, this would prove the greatest tournament ever played. Herbert Lewis is referee.

The opening match tonight will be together Walker Cochran and Peter Conti, the French champion.
 Hoppe and Horemans do not play tomorrow.

37 Local Boys on Reserve List of 10 Minor Leagues

At Least Three of St. Louis' Baseball Players Due for Try-out in Majors.

Reserve lists of the various minor leagues filed with Secretary John H. Farrell show that 37 St. Louis boys are with the teams in the different smaller leagues. Local ball tossers are with teams in every circuit from Class AA down to Class D.

Of the 37, an even dozen, or almost one-third, are in the three class AA circuits, the American Association, International and Pacific Coast. The International, with five, has the greatest number. The tossers are Cliff Brady, Maurice Archdeacon, Ted Hawk, Jewell Ens and Walter Schulz.

Of the athletes on minor rosters two have been announced as possible candidates for a Southern trip with the Cardinals. They are Jewell Ens, who last season third-sacked for Syracuse and was second in slugging to Jack Bentley and Ray Blades, who played with Houston.

Neusel Goes to Yankees.
 At least one other will get a chance in the big tent. He is Eddie Neusel, who has been purchased from the Coffeyville club by the New York Yankees. According to reports, Andy High, who played third base for Memphis, was due for a trial with the Brooklyn Superbas.

Many of the local boys who are with minor league teams have had previous trials in the majors. Among them are Douglas Baird, Walter Neusel, Cliff Brady, Maurice Archdeacon, Walter Schulz, Dee Walsh, Hugh High, Harry Lunte, Johnny Brock, Ray Blades, Harry Swacina and Artie Dunn.

Ollie O'Mara, who jumped the Indianapolis club, is still carried on the ineligible list of that team, while Frank Lankenau, the Concordia Seminary right-hander, is on the suspended list of the Nashville team. The name of "Dutch" Oellerman, last season with Orlando, does not appear on the reserve list of that club.

Ray Neusel, who met with an untimely death in an accident here last spring, is on the ineligible list of the New Orleans club.

St. Louis Boys Reserved.

Following is a list of St. Louis boys reserved by minor league clubs:

American Association—Johnny Jones, St. Paul; Thomas Estell, Louisville; Douglas Baird and Walter Neusel, Indianapolis. Ollie O'Mara, ineligible.

International League—Cliff Brady, Jersey City; Maurice Archdeacon and Theodore Hawk, Rochester; Jewell Ens and Walter Schulz, Syracuse.

Pacific Coast League—Dee Walsh, San Francisco; Hugh High, Vernon; Harry Lunte, Sacramento.

Southern Association—Gil Meyers, New Orleans; Frank Zoellers, Little Rock; Emmett Mulvey, Mobile; Andy High, Memphis. Frank Lankenau, suspended.

Western League—Bill Feuerborn, Tulsa; Ray Hawk, Oklahoma City; Ray O'Brien, Omaha.

Texas League—John Brock, San Antonio; Ray Blades and Joe Doyle, Houston; George Alerdissen, Beaumont.

Virginia League—Jimmy Brannigan, Tarboro.

Three Eye League—George Kerr, William Tatum and Charles Root, Terre Haute; Ted Menze, Peoria.

South Atlantic League—Harry Swacina, Charleston.

Brannigan Swatted .369.

Official batting averages of the Virginia League show that Jimmy Brannigan, the local boy, batted .369 in 135 games with the Tarboro club last season. Brannigan in 524 trips to the plate made 141 hits good for a total of 260 bases. He had 21 doubles, six triples and four home runs. He scored 81 runs and stole 23 bases. Brannigan fielded .940 at second base and .908 as a third baseman.

Henry Had Good Record.

Frank Henry, the left-hander, who was purchased by the Browns from the Orlando club of the Florida State League, was the leading pitching regular of the circuit last season. He won 27 games and lost seven for a percentage of .781. In 275 1-3 innings he allowed 77 runs and 227 hits. He struck out 200 batters and walked only 64. He was the leading left-hander pitcher in the circuit. The complete contests. He finished with a swat figure of .237.

Oellerman Hit for .345.
 "Dutch" Oellerman, local soccer player, batted to a .345 average with Joe Tinker's Orlando club in 1921, according to the official figures of the circuit just released. He made 38 hits in 155 attempts. In the outfield, he fielded .881, with two errors in 107 chances.

Plestina Meets Pesek.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Marin Plestina, who has been clamoring for several seasons for a chance at the heavyweight catch-as-catch-can wrestling title, now held by Stanislaus Zyzko, will make his first appearance tonight against John Pesek, the Nebraska grappler, in a 2-in-3 fall match.

BUTCH TO MEET ERTL, PROVIDED HE DEFEATS WADE WED ESDAY NIGHT

The postponement of the South Broadway boxing program puts the Business Men's A. C. card Wednesday night first on the week's boxing schedule.

Matchmaker Harry Cook announced last night that he had endeavored to arrange a match between Johnny Ertl of St. Paul and George Butch, with the proviso that Butch defeat Sammy Wade of Pekin, Ill., one of the features of Wednesday night's card. Ertl, formerly a bantam title claimant, has been "beating back" in several good bouts of recent date and apparently increased in weight since his appearance here several years ago. Johnny formerly weighed about 114 pounds.

Wade, Butch's foe Wednesday, brings a good reputation and alleged victories over Stanley Everett, Pekin Kid Herman, Young Dundee, Tony Caponi and others.

Other bouts on Wednesday's card are: Mann Dugan, Plainview, Ill., vs. Ed Mvorka (Kindon Belmont) Carlisle, 10 rounds, heavyweights; Jimmy Gorry vs. Buddy McFale, 10 rounds, 145 pounds; Joe McIntyre vs. Roy Kleinkemper, four rounds, featherweights.

The camel kneels

Did you ever stop to think why camels have such heavy calloused pads on their knees?

The first men who used camels were desert rovers with only their camels for protection against their enemies. In the day-time the camels were used for their speed in running away, but at night the camels formed a ring outside the camp and they were forced to kneel and were prevented by straps from lying down.

It was thus that men protected their wealth in the nomad days.

To-day, farsighted men protect their wealth by depositing it with strong financial institutions.

BARON TAKAHASHI ASSUMES
THE PREMIERSHIP OF JAPAN

Appointment Said to Be Regarded as Indication of Waning Militarist Power.

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, Nov. 14.—Baron Korekiyo Takahashi, Minister of Finance in the Hara Cabinet, has officially assumed the premiership in succession to Takashi Nara, who was assassinated Nov. 4.

The appointment of Baron Takahashi is generally regarded in political circles as a favorable indication of the waning of the power of the militarists and as insuring what is termed as a continuation of the "peaceable foreign policy of Premier Hara."

Baron Takahashi, accompanied by Viscount Uchida, the Foreign Minister, proceeded to the palace yesterday morning for the installation of the Premier, which took place in the presence of Marquis Matsukata, Lord Keeper of the Privy Seal, Viscount Makino, Minister of the Imperial Household, and Count Gimaichi, the Grand Chamberlain.

In addition to holding the premiership, Baron Takahashi will continue as Minister of Finance and acting Minister of the Navy.

EDITORS TO HAVE CONVENTION

Missoula, Mont., and Salt Lake City, Utah, Chosen for 1922 Meeting.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The executive committee of the National Editorial Association, at a meeting here yesterday, selected Missoula, Mont., and Salt Lake City, Utah, as the places for holding the 1922 annual convention next July. Sessions are to be held in both cities and a 21-day tour of Western Montana, Northern Utah and the Yellowstone Park will be made between the meetings. The two cities were selected from 27 contenders. Exact dates will be fixed later.

The committee also recommended in a resolution that a nonpartisan Government publicity bureau be established by the Senate to act as a clearing house for all news material sent out by the various Government bureaus, with a view to having the matter prepared so it would conform to the needs of the newspapers.

SOLDIERS' MEMORIAL UNVEILED

A bronze memorial tablet for members of St. Rose's parish who served in the World War was unveiled yesterday afternoon at St. Rose Church, Maple and Goodfellow avenues. It contains the names of 318 who were in the service, 12 of whom lost their lives.

The unveiling was preceded by a procession which formed at St. Rose Parochial Hall and marched to the church. In it were four posts of the American Legion, Boy Scouts, Knights of Columbus Zouaves, a squad from Jefferson Barracks and a group of Marines and members of the parish. The tablet was unveiled by Capt. Roland Reinhold.

MRS. SANGER IS ARRESTED FOR TALK ON BIRTH CONTROL

Police Reserves Called Out When Speaker and Companion Are Taken to Station.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Margaret Sanger, well-known writer, and Miss Mary Winsor of Philadelphia, were arrested last night after they were alleged to have defied the police by addressing a mass meeting in Town Hall on the subject of birth control. The police broke up the meeting.

The two women were taken to the West Forty-seventh Street Police Station, where technical charges of disorderly conduct were made against them.

From the police station the women were taken to the men's right court in West Fifty-fourth street, but Magistrate Francis M. McQuade held that he did not have jurisdiction, and paroled them in the custody of their counsel for their appearance in the West Side Court today.

Hundreds of birth-control advocates followed the prisoners to the police station, where the reserves were called out to keep them out of the building. Several impromptu street meetings then were held in the vicinity near the station house, criticism of the police for stopping the Town Hall meeting being the chief topic.

MAN ARRESTED, LIQUOR AND JEWEL CASE FOUND IN GRIP

Articles Labeled "A. Loeb"—Investigation Reveals Home of Alexander
Loeb Had Been Ransacked.

A man carrying two grips was arrested last night at Eleventh and Pine streets. In the grips were four bottles of whisky and one partly emptied a jewel case labeled "A. Loeb" and some silverware bearing the monogram "L."

Policeman Stowell, who made the arrest, called up the residence of Alexander Loeb, 5112 Westminster place, to inquire if the family had been robbed. Policeman Walsh of the Page Boulevard Station answered the telephone. He had found a window forced, a door open, the place ransacked and nobody at home. The family, it was learned, was out of the city. The jewel case was locked.

The man who was arrested said another man gave him the grips and a drink of whisky at Fourteenth and Olive streets and told him to carry them to Ninth and Pine streets.

KANSAS DENTIST FOUND DEAD

By the Associated Press.
WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 14.—The body of Dr. Herbert L. Kells, Coffeyville dentist, formerly of Wichita, was found yesterday floating in the pit of a brick plant in South Coffeyville, Kan., according to word received by relatives here last night.

The right side of his head was crushed, as if by a club, the message said. Dr. Kells is reported to have been missing since Nov. 1. The authorities arrested a taxicab driver and held him for investigation in connection with the death.

GETTING RID OF A NASTY TEMPER

How Gude's Pepto-
Mangan Relieves Ill
Humor of Bad Health

When ill humor becomes chronic and a man or a woman who should be genial becomes known as a "grouch," nine times out of ten the cause is physical. When blood gets weak and full of poison it leaves the body weak, the face pale, and causes a tired feeling. There is no endurance. Nerves get all tattered, because in a weak blood condition the body is not nourished sufficiently with the oxygen that rich red blood supplies.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is a blood-builder and when taken in steady doses for a while it causes a flood of fresh red blood cells to stream through the body, bringing robust health and strength. With good blood, rich and red, there are no "grouches." Life looks good and pleasures are keenly enjoyed.

Druggists have Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid and tablet form. Be sure to get the genuine with the name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" on the package.

BREAK IN STEELS SEEDS STOCK LIST OFF TO 4 POINTS

Selling Follows Upturn in Some Issues—Late Decline Includes Railroads—Exchange Market Is Strong—Call Money Down.

By Special Wire From the New York
Post, Nov. 14.—The stock market today was a great disappointment to those who had expected an advance in response to the proposal of a 10-year naval holiday.
At the outset, the market was gaily a point or so. But from around midday the heavy selling of the steel group, were the cause of a sharp decline. By noon many of the leading issues had fallen 4 points or more. The steel group, including the final level of Saturday, fell before the close by a little at 4 1/2 per cent, but was offered low as 4 per cent shortly after 2 o'clock.

Exchange Market Strong.
The exchange market showed prominent strength with sterling and demand. Buying centered chiefly was in the financial district in anticipation of the success of the armament and the favorable economic results overseas that would result. Sterling at $135 1/2, closed at $135 1/2. Saturday's closing French francs at 16 1/2, closed at 16 1/2. The dollar was offered at 100, but was offered at 100 1/2 only weakly at the close.

Cotton Rallied Somewhat.
The cotton market showed weakness of the previous week and the heavy buying in Liverpool, covering the shorts, and the improved sentiment growing out of the Washington conference contributed to this result. January contract opened at 15 1/2, when it rallied to 15 3/4, then fell to 15 1/2 at the close. Following this there was a renewed advance with the market closing 70 points up for the day.
At 10 1/2 cents. As a result of profit-taking and hedging, operations wheat reacted sharply selling about 10 cents off from Saturday's best prices.
The May future opened $1.13 1/2, and closed at $1.10 1/2.

—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

can market for limitation of naval armament, with its strong appeal to the sentiment of the day, was a reminder of what happened in the days of the war. But, as compared with the movement of last week, the movement was much more irregular, and generally steady. The market was hopeful, apparently reflecting the confidence of the outlook. The market was a new Kingdom 2 1/2 of the Government's reached a new top for the year. Canadian bonds and higher, while the St. Paul & N. W. and the Rio de Janeiro were off a trifle.

MULE TEAM Borax SOAP CHIPS

The Soap Chips for ALL Fabrics

The only soap that will do all seven of these important things in washing all fabrics. Read the seven and think it over. 1—Softens the Water. All water that comes through iron pipes is hard—and hard water won't wash clothes properly. BORAX IS the greatest water softener. 2—Removes All Dirt. Owing to the action of the fine soap and large amount of Borax in 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips, all the dirt is dissolved out of the fabric without injury. 3—Washes Clothes Hygienically Clean. The Borax in 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips has a definite antiseptic action and leaves all fabrics antiseptically clean. 4—Washes White Goods Whiter. In removing all forms of dirt, streaks and dullness, when Borax is used, the result is fresh, clean-smelling material that is as white as when originally manufactured. 5—Sets the Softest Colors. Borax does not remove colors—on the contrary it sets them. 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips make colors stick. 6—Removes All Odors. The Borax in the soap is an antiseptic and deodorant. 7—Makes the Hands Smooth and White. There is nothing better for the skin than Borax. It cleanses the pores hygienically, and smooths and softens the roughest skin. There is no other soap which will do all these seven things at once.

The Weekly Health Talk

By DR. MAX C. STARKLOFF
Health Commissioner of St. Louis.

Very few persons give the right kind of consideration to the question of properly clothing the body in the winter season, but the majority of winter ills are of a respiratory nature, and most of them start with the common "cold." Therefore everybody ought to have a fairly good knowledge of the correct method of clothing the body in the winter months.

Modern living conditions have revolutionized winter environment for those who spend most of their time within heated buildings and it is for this class of people that these remarks are intended, not for those who work out of doors the majority of the time.

To the man or woman who is engaged in office or workshop where modern heating is provided, heavy underclothing is a positive menace to health. In fact heavy clothing in general, excepting the overcoat, is often responsible for the onset of disease.

The garments that provide such warmth as to make one comfortable and afford proper protection in quite low temperatures are manifestly not the proper garments to wear in a heated atmosphere. Workers in warm rooms should never wear heavy clothes unless the garments can be removed and laid aside during the time the person remains in such an atmosphere.

Such garments cause the body to become overwarm, with a resulting perspiration although the perspiration may be imperceptible and result in a congestion when going out into an atmosphere much lower, which is a common cause of colds from which develop pneumonia and other respiratory troubles of a grave nature.

To be properly clad in winter the individual should wear light or medium heavy but warm underclothing and the outer garments should not be heavy or heating. In fact, most persons in good health do better by using summer undergarments in winter.

In excessively cold weather light balbrigan undergarments may be worn and the suit or dress should be of medium weight cloth. Such persons should, however, have a heavy and warm cloak or overcoat that will protect the body from the neck to the ankles while exposed to the outside atmosphere.

By such an arrangement of the wearing apparel it is possible to adjust the clothing to the atmosphere so that when one is in an atmosphere of 70 or 80 the body is covered with light garments and when one enters the colder atmosphere with a low temperature, even of zero or below, the body is enveloped in clothing sufficient to protect and to afford comfort.

Wearing creatures of habit and habit is the most difficult of things to change. Most of us are following the old rule that we must wear light clothing in summer and heavy clothing in winter, without giving any thought to the fact that this rule of our forefathers was based upon entirely different conditions than those which prevail today. In those days both dwellings and places of employment were at best scarcely more than huts, depending for heat upon grate and stoves, making conditions far different from the modernly equipped and heated building. If we are to dress as we must take these differences into consideration.

And when we do we will find that the old clothing which we have been subjected to each winter will be very conspicuous by their absence.

Imports of Tyrol the bride's mother gives her daughter what is known as the "tearful" woven in fine linen, with which she is supposed to dry her eyes at the ceremony. Afterward she puts this away and it is not used again until it is laid over her face when she is dead.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

Make Your Habits Friends—Not Enemies.

GOD habits are your friends. Bad habits are your enemies. Inasmuch as your body, as William James says, is "a bundle of habits," you might as well make the bundle up of friends rather than of enemies.

By habits we do not mean alone drinking, or smoking tobacco, or greed at the dining table, or the neglect of health. We mean the attitude of your mind toward all that composes your life.

Good habits are as easily acquired as bad ones—if you begin early enough.

Also they are as hard to shake off. A man who by habit has become a good husband and father, a careful provider and a moral force in the community, is never likely to go wrong.

His habit will be too hard to break. A man with the habit of industry seldom loses it. Even in his old age his body or mind, accustomed to exertion, craves exercise and finds it.

If you get the habit of thrift it will stick to you. Sheer waste of money will be impossible. Many men have got rich merely because in youth the thrift habit was ingrained, and in spite of opportunities to become spenders, it could never be broken.

Your habits are servants, which, from long use, do your work for you almost mechanically.

In one of Maupassant's stories a sword thrower, who has for 20 years encircled a woman with knives, conceives a hatred for her and tries to kill her "by mistake" by misdirecting a knife at a public performance.

The hand refuses to throw the knife away. It cannot break its habits. Your habits will be good or bad, according to the way you begin them. If you start with good ones, they will be excellent and faithful servants through life. If you start with bad ones, you are going to need many years to break them—if you ever do break them.

Better start with good ones. But don't despair if your start was wrong. By trying, you can replace the inefficient ones with those that are competent and helpful.

What the "Tall Girl Should Wear"

Hers the Only Figure That Can Carry Clothes of Two Colors

SHE MAY NOT Wear Lengthwise Stripes or Long Panels, High-Waisted or Tight-Skirted Dresses, Little Dangling Trimmings, and Hats That Turn Up or Have Brims That Stick Out in Straight Lines.

As shown by the photograph above, the longest and thickest of woolen scarfs is given added style when worn by a tall girl. A long figure can rejoice in coat of one color and material worn with a skirt of quite the opposite attributes, as the photo at the left illustrates. In excellent proportion with the tall girl's figure is the dress shown at the right, with the full skirt, long waist, and a contrastingly colored girdle. (Photos by Joel Feder.)

By MARGERY WELLS.

There is no prouder race of women than the tall girls in America today.

But how many of them know how to wear their clothes to make the most of their God-given gifts?

Some of them allow their shoulders to bend or droop as though they were ashamed of the inches they carry about. And where is the fashion that could look its best on a slinking figure?

Then others of them carry their heads in the air, bravely looking over the tops of all passersby, as who should say: "Behold my beautiful lines—badge of a new American race of women."

The right clothes can make a tall girl look like a queen, and the wrong ones can spoil her as perhaps no other sort of figure is capable of being spoiled. Therefore, the girl with this type of figure must think it all out. She must consider her build as a decorative feature.

The tall girl can break her height with crosswise lines in a reckless way. She can wear a skirt of one color and pattern and a coat of an entirely different tone and quality. She can do this gracefully. She has the height to carry it off. It is a combination, too, that fits in with the lines of her figure. It makes her good-looking without branding her as conspicuous.

It has the effect of making people want to turn and look at the queenliness of her carriage. It adds grace where there is some danger of clumsiness if the clothes are not just right.

The full skirt is just the idea for the tall girl. It is her length that gives the folds of a skirt of this sort ample room in which to swing their fullness charmingly. But the skirt must be very full, with enough gathers to take away any appearance of skimpiness.

Haven't you often seen a tall girl wearing a skirt that she blithely thought was amply full? And haven't you ached to see the way her long legs pulled it into a perfectly taut line as she stepped out to the full length of her natural step? That was because she had not taken her height into account. She had said: "I will wear a full skirt," and then she had chosen a full skirt made for a shorter figure, let down the hem and let it go at that. She would have profited by a straight, honest talk with herself before the full length mirror, even if she had to pretend to be looking at candles in a show window while she got a good slant at herself.

Pleated skirts are the boon of the tall girl. As she sees the one in the picture.

Then full-flaring and box coats are perfect for the girl whose height is above the average. Here a shorter girl would be inclined to look stumped and cut off; the taller one glories in the grace of the flaring line. Underneath that flare (see the picture again) there is a sufficiency of straight line to restore the proportion.

If a tall girl's coat is a long one it should never reach the bottom of her dress, but it should be just long enough to let some inches of the dress show underneath its edge. Here again she is breaking the line sufficiently to subtract from what might be a general appearance of overgrowth.

For dresses, overskirts are something that just naturally seek the tall girl's figure. Then there is the full skirt and the full bodice, long waisted in due proportion with her long shape. The photographs on this page illustrate that type admirably, being a frock made of the popular jacquard crepe. The sash on this dress, too, is appropriate for the taller figure, which can stand the contrasting color and the long, heavy tassels.

She can wear any sort of colorful birdie to perfection. She can carry off flounces on her skirts. She can wear all waisted dresses with a grace that strikes envy, hatred and malice into the hearts of her shorter sisters. She can, thoughtlessly, buy gowns with stripes running round and round. She can wear big plaids without a tremor.

But she must never—no, never wear lengthwise stripes. She must not indulge in long, thin panels at the front and back. She must not let the high waisted, tight skirted dress lure her on. She must never let little dangling trimmings enter the domain of her wardrobe.

For hats, the tall girl finds that she is cutting a dash when she chooses those that in some way bend down. That is, they must droop either with trimmings, as in two of the pictures, or with brims that bend down as in the remaining picture. Draw a straight line up and down on the paper before you. Then across the top of that line draw a cross line, and you will see the principles of the drooping hat for the tall girl. It cuts her off. It mashes her down. It adds the needed proportion to the height of her figure.

You who are tall—you know that they turn to compliment you when you wear one of those large, picture hats. Yes, they are the hats for you. They need not necessarily be dressy. They can be as plain as any pipe-stem. But, if they droop they are more becoming to you than if they turn up or stick out in a straight line.

And as for furs—the tall girl can wear the bunchiest, fluffiest, thickest sort of furs there are. The bigger the better. This does not sound cheap, but even so, it is a good principle and often it can be done for less money than you believed possible before you started looking into the matter. Only don't wear skimpy little bits of furs. They just disappear on your tallness. Rather wear a huge, thick, soft, wrappy, woolen scarf, like the one in the illustration that fits in with the inches you carry.

"THE LOVE COWARDS"

BY HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

(Copyright, 1921, for Public Ledger Co.)

Nancy Hathaway, because she has been disappointed in one man decides never to trust another. To get away she accepts a position as governess to a little child in a lonely house on the coast of Massachusetts and when she arrives there discovers that Bruce Henderson, little Trix's uncle, has a sinister influence over the child. Trix is terrified of Bruce and Nancy is determined to make her leave, which she orders her to do. Trix awakes from his dream, as a last resort, and in order to make her leave, he suddenly seizes her in his arms one night and in spite of herself, Nancy finds that she cannot forget that moment nor despise Bruce as she should.

CHAPTER XXIV

An Amazing Discovery! UP TO that moment Nancy had not had time to think about what had happened, but now as she lived over those few moments, she found herself suddenly sitting bolt upright in her chair, her cheeks flaming, her hands clenched.

What was the matter with her, was she going mad?

She hated this man and despised him more than she hated him, but at the memory of that moment in his arms an unmistakable thrill swept over her and her hands clasped in her breast. She found herself deliberately living that moment over again, calling up before her his face as it had looked just before he had seized her, when for an instant of time she had looked into his eyes and had seen something else besides mockery there.

Nancy sat there at the window and quivered with shame. She looked over at Trix's little figure lying asleep in the big bed, and tried to lash herself with the memory of what Bruce Henderson had done to the child. She knew that he was cruel, unscrupulous, without finer feelings of any kind. She knew the baseness of his reasons for doing what he had tonight. He knew that she hated and despised him, for she had told him so, and his one idea had been to conquer her so thoroughly that she would not remain in the house another day. The very nature of his kiss had been an affront without the words he had flung at her.

"Now will you go?" She could hear the mockery in his voice yet. But she could not hate that moment as she should, even remembering that final insult. Other memories came up to torture her further.

She had set herself up as a paragon of virtue in her judgment of Alvin, she had thrown her hands up in horror at what Alvin had said, and now she herself was just as guilty. To be sure, she had not wanted to be in Bruce Henderson's arms, but the memory of it did not offend her and she could not hate him as she should.

Then if she didn't hate him, how did she feel toward him? Nancy's slim hands went up to her heart as if by main force to stop its feverish beating. She tried to remember how she had felt toward Alvin, and she knew that during all the time they had been engaged he had never awakened in her such a turbulent feeling as she suffered now.

Perhaps she had never really loved Alvin! Alvin had taunted her with that. Was love, then, this madness that had taken hold of her? Oh, it couldn't be true! Love went hand in hand with respect and honor, and she had neither honor nor respect in her heart for Alvin.

Nancy sat there crouched in her chair for hours suffering as she had never suffered before in her life. She did not admit even to herself that she loved Bruce Henderson, it simply wasn't possible. But that look in his eyes remained with her torturingly. It had softened the harshness of his features to a moment of tenderness, that had been instantly swallowed up by his habitual scowl, but she had seen it and she could not forget it. When she finally dragged herself out of the chair and began wearily to get ready for bed, she had succeeded in forcing her thoughts back to Trix. Trix must be protected, and whatever danger threatened her must be fought against. Perhaps Miss Henderson would consent to her taking the child away for a time. At any rate, she was determined to have a serious talk with Miss Henderson the first thing in the morning. She had been kept in the dark long enough concerning the mystery that hung over this household, and it was time that she knew the truth.

Until the time when she at last fell into an uneasy sleep, Nancy succeeded in keeping her thoughts away from Bruce Henderson, but a dark menacing figure stalked through her dreams, a man with fiery eyes and a mocking, merciless laugh.

CHAPTER XXV

"She Needs You!" THE next morning Trix was better, but she seemed very weak, and Nancy insisted that she stay in bed. The child refused to say anything about what had happened the day before, and, in fact, Nancy thought it best not to ask direct questions lest it excite Trix and cause her mind to dwell upon what was best forgotten.

After breakfast Miss Henderson hurried upstairs and called Nancy out into the hall. She seemed more than ordinarily excited about something, and at her first words Nancy realized what was wrong.

"Bruce was furious that Trix did not come down to breakfast. He says we're pampering her and that he won't have it."

Her worried eyes met Nancy's cool, steady ones and something in the girl's look made Miss Henderson avoid her glance.

"See here, Miss Henderson, you and I must come to an understanding about Trix. As I understand things, you engaged me to take care of her. You want me to be with her constantly and to protect her against something. And yet you have never once taken me into your confidence. Strange things have happened; I cannot help noticing that your brother has a terrific influence of some kind over Trix and that you yourself are afraid of that influence, and yet you don't uphold me in my fight against him, when it comes to a direct issue."

Miss Henderson turned her head nervously and peered over the balcony. She acted as though she was afraid their conversation would be overheard by someone downstairs, and Nancy understood her attitude. She herself was afraid of her brother and did not want to admit the truth.

"There are many things that I don't understand about this house," Nancy went on. "Things I really should know but that I have hesitated asking about for fear of intruding on your privacy. But matters have reached a stage now where I feel that I oughtn't to be kept any longer in the dark. Last night your brother told me again that I must leave and I refused."

Miss Henderson drew a long breath. "Thank God for that!" "But I feel that I cannot stay on unless I have your co-operation, unless I feel you are on my side."

"But of course I am on your side," Nancy shook her head. "I think you want to be and hesitate to commit yourself. Miss Henderson, what is there about your brother that menaces Trix, and even terrifies you? I don't think I am asking too much when I ask that."

Miss Henderson grew very white and leaned against the wall heavily. Nancy felt sorry for her, but was firm. She must get to the bottom of this mystery once and for all.

"I want to help you," she said more gently, "and surely you must realize that to do that I must learn the truth."

"I can't tell you; I can't do what you ask," Miss Henderson almost moaned, and then, as she saw Nancy's lips tighten, she burst out. "But you won't leave her, surely you won't desert me now? If I keep on fighting in the dark I won't get anywhere!" Nancy said, trying to be patient.

"I'll promise to give you free rein with Trix; I'll promise to stand between you and Bruce on every occasion but don't let it in my power," Miss Henderson hurried on. "Surely that's enough to keep you here if you care anything about the child. For she needs you, I tell you; she needs you now more than she has ever needed anyone in her life!"

Tomorrow—"I Cannot Tell You."

SALMON WITH MACARONI

A GOOD one-dish meal. Pick one can of milk or cream, add macaroni one-half pound. Make one pint of ordinary white sauce. Put a layer of boiled macaroni broken in inch lengths in the bottom of a baking dish, next a layer of sauce, then a layer of salmon, continuing until dish is filled. Sauce should come last and be sprinkled with buttered crumbs. Bake until brown.

Baked French Pancakes

ONE pint milk, 4 beaten eggs, 2 tablespoons flour. Beat eggs, add flour, then milk, beat all together for some time. Butter some small saucers, half fill with the mixture and bake in a quick oven 8 or 10 minutes. Have ready some jelly or jam. Put a little on each fold over and serve at once. No need of frying pancakes and smoking the entire kitchen; so much quicker when in a hurry.

Oh Henry! Slice It! A S AN after dinner confection, Henry sliced is in a class alone. It is this evening—slices a quarter inch thick—about eight to the bar. Good! Oh Henry!

"Poetess of Love" Looks Into Own Heart to Romanticize Second Husband

First Book of Love, Blanche Shoemaker Wagstaff Carr Dedicated to First Husband; Again Sings of Romance and Second Husband; in Between Love and Treason to the God of Love.

By Marguerite Moores Marshall
"Look in thy heart and write," said Sir Philip Sidney.
THE friends of Mrs. Blanche Shoemaker Wagstaff Carr, one of the most beautiful women in New York society and its most famous "Poetess of Love," are looking with interest how she seems to have followed Sir Philip Sidney's classic injunction in her newest book of verse, "Poetess of Love," which has just appeared. The book may be taken as a second flowering both of the mind and of the woman.
Her first important book, "Other Poems," was dedicated to her first husband, Alfred Wagstaff Jr. Last year she received from him a final divorce in Newport. A few months ago she became the bride of Mr. Carr, a New York broker and a known amateur golfer. Now, in "Poetess of Love," with its dedication to "Donald," in the following expressive sonnet:
You speak contentment to my weary
Like stars at twilight when the day Far in the West is falling into
And when the homing birds in silence
Into the sheltering woods as chill winds
Yea, when I look upon your beauty
I am serene and comforted of fate.
For sorrow leaves me with its aching
And earth with music fills, and gentle Enfolds me like a vision of divine
And loveliness becomes forever
In these calm hours of consummation
No more shall I in lonely seeking
But find in you my spirit's treasure.
But that isn't all. "There are other charming poems in 'Poetess of Love'—it is published by Yard & Co., which surely immortalizes moments when the wedded poet "looked into her heart and wrote." A unique feature of Blanche Shoemaker Wagstaff Carr's very quiet second wedding, which took place July 30, in Manchester, Vt., was the reading by the bride of the poem, "Marry Me." This also is printed in the new book, and its lines are instinct with a happiness in the present and a hope for the future. Here it is:
Your heart and my heart, ever one, as Intertwined in April in the scented
Root and bough united in a sacred path
Oh, what joy and wonder in this path
Your life and my life, . . . flowing stream.
Storm cannot turn it in its gliding dream
Shoals cannot daunt it or darkness Deep is the tidal flood sweeping over Your love and my love, . . . like a flight.
Wonderful the glory through the night;
Peace in the splendor, beauty in the Body and spirit—one this hour.

While women will have no voice in the sessions of the disarmament conference now being held in Washington they have been given four places on the Conference Advisory Committee by President Harding. RAISIN GINGER BREAD
OLD-FASHIONED raisin ginger bread was served at one of the tea rooms near the New York college and the manager told me that he sold more of it than the fancy cakes. This is made by mixing one cup of buttermilk with one cup of molasses and a teaspoon of soda. Add one beaten egg and three cups of flour sifted with half a teaspoon each of ground cinnamon, cloves, mace and a teaspoon of ginger. Mix well and stir in two cups of chopped raisins. Pour into buttered, shallow pans and bake in a moderate oven.

CREAMED CODFISH
COVER fish with cold water and soak over night. In the morning pick apart, removing all bones; cover with hot water and cook slowly about 15 minutes. Drain. Make a white sauce of two tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons of flour, one cup of milk and one well-beaten egg (may be omitted). Melt butter, remove from fire, add flour; mix until smooth, then cook until frothy; add milk, stirring constantly until creamy; add fish, season to taste and just before serving add eggs and cook one minute. Serve on toast.

CRACKER CRUMB CAKE
YOLKS of five eggs beaten with one cup sugar, one-half cup cracker crumbs, one cup chopped walnuts, one cup chopped raisins, the grated rind of one lemon, one teaspoonful baking powder. Add beaten egg whites last. Bake in a moderate oven.

RICE A LA SHRIMPS
TWO cups rice, one can shrimp, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one teaspoon pepper, two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons catsup, one cup water. Wash rice, stir in salt, butter, pepper and catsup; add warm water and simmer for half an hour. Wash off shrimp, when rice is half-cooked, put in shrimp, set in double boiler and let cook one hour more.

EXCELSIOR COOKIES
CREAM together one cupful of butter, two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of milk, three eggs, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and flour enough to make a soft dough. Roll thin, sprinkle with granulated sugar, and bake.

CASSEROLE OF LAMB
TWO pounds breast or shoulder of lamb, two cups diced potatoes, two cups diced carrots, one small onion, chopped; one cup canned tomatoes; seasoning. Cut lamb in small pieces, roll in flour and brown well in hot fat with the onion. Put in well-greased casserole with the tomatoes and one cup hot water. Bake two hours, replenishing water from time to time; add potatoes and carrots and bake three-fourths hour longer. Thicken the gravy and serve very hot, with fresh baking powder biscuits.

Baked Caramel Custard
COOK one cup sugar until it reaches the caramel stage. Then pour into a large mold, and with a towel tilt mold from side to side, so that the mold will be lined with the caramel. Scald one quart milk and add eight eggs beaten slightly with one-half cup sugar and one-half teaspoon salt. Strain into mold, place on double folds of paper in a large pan of water and cook in a moderate oven until firm. When cold, turn from mold. Chill and serve with top milk.

In agricultural pursuits the proportion of women workers is 15 in each 100 persons. In transportation women hold 5 per cent of the positions, in professional service 44 per cent and in clerical occupations 35 per cent.

On the Way to Keeping Well

Why Do Former Alcoholics Become Candy Fiends?

LONG before prohibition came into effect there were two races which the wives of alcoholics sometimes adopted. One was to put in prominent places in the house tempting dishes of candy in the hope that the craving for strong drink might be temporarily allayed by the eating of those sweets. The second was to place around about equally tempting dishes of apples and for the same reason as that above referred to.

The sugar in the candy, when acted upon by the gastric juices in the stomach, produces an alcoholic ferment. This reacts upon the circulation in a minute degree, giving forth a passing stimulation similar to that induced by intoxicants.

Because of this, former imbibers in the flowing bowl seem to obtain a temporary respite from their thirst by eating candy, and they cultivate their sweet tooth with so much assiduity that they dare no longer point a finger of scorn at this formerly almost wholly feminine indulgence. For candy plus the gastric juices distills as effective an alcoholic compound as does sugar plus water plus heat.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Blacky Makes More Discoveries.

Little things you fail to see May important prove to be.
—Blacky the Crow.

ONE of the secrets of Blacky's success in life is the fact that he never fails to take note of little things. Long ago he learned that little things, which in themselves seem harmless and not worth noticing, may together prove the most important things in life. So no matter how unimportant a thing may be, Blacky examines it closely with those sharp eyes of his and remembers it.

The very first thing Blacky did as soon as he was awake the morning after he discovered the man scattering corn in the rushes at a certain place on the edge of the Big River was to fly over to the pond of Paddy the Beaver and again warn Mr. and Mrs. Quack to keep away from the Big River if they and their six children would remain safe. Then he got some breakfast. He ate it in a hurry and flew straight over to the Big River to the place where he had seen that yellow corn scattered.

Blacky wasn't wholly surprised to find Dusky the Black Duck, own cousin to Mr. and Mrs. Quack the Mallard Ducks, with a number of his relatives in among the rushes and wild rice at the very place where that corn had been scattered. They seemed quite contented and in the best of spirits. Blacky guessed why. Not a single grain of that yellow corn could Blacky see. He knew the ways of Dusky and his relatives. He knew that they must have come in there just at dusk the night before and at once found that corn. He knew that they would remain hiding there until frightened out, and that then they would spend the day in some little pond, where they would not be likely to be disturbed, or where at least no danger could approach them without being seen in plenty of time. There they would rest all day and when the Black Shadows came creeping out from the Purple Hills they would return to that place on the Big River to feed, for that is the time when they like best to hunt for their food.

Dusky looked up as Blacky flew over him, but Blacky said nothing and Dusky said nothing. But if Blacky didn't use his tongue he did use his eyes. He saw just on the edge of the shore what looked like a lot of small bushes growing close together on the very edge of the water. Mixed in with them were a lot of the brown rushes. They looked very harmless and innocent. But Blacky knew every foot of that shore along the Big River and he knew that those bushes hadn't been there during the summer. He knew that they hadn't grown there. He flew directly over them. Just back of them were a couple of logs. Those logs hadn't been there when he passed that way a few days ago. He was sure of it.

"Ha!" exclaimed Blacky under his breath. "Those look to me" as if they might be very handy, very handy indeed for a hunter. "So sit on. Sitting there behind those bushes he would be hidden from any Duck who might come in to look for nice yellow corn scattered out there among the rushes. It doesn't look right to me. I think I'll keep an eye on this place."

So Blacky came back to the Big River several times that day. The second time back he found that Dusky the Black Duck and his flock had left. When he returned in the afternoon he saw the same man he had seen there the afternoon before and he was doing the same thing—scattering yellow corn out in the rushes. And as before he went away in a boat.

"I don't like it," muttered Blacky, shaking his head. "I don't like it." (Copyright, 1921, by T. W. Burgess.)

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY
By James J. Montague.

BILL AND THE CRITICS.
When William J. Shakspeare went up to his flat Climbed into his cotton pajamas,
And turned out the plays that have earned him his bays
As the top-notch composer of dramas,
He never observed, "I care nothing for pelf
Let 'em fill up the show-shop on passes,
I don't want a sou for the stuff that I do
I am writing to uplift the masses!"

Bill wasn't that sort of a playwright at all.
He wrote for the coin that was in it.
He knew what was due on his royalties, too,
And collected them up to the minute.
And when a play dragged and the house was half sold,
He put in new lines and more action,
Enlivened the scenes and employed every means
To make it a paying attraction.

The critics said Bill was too eager to please,
They called him a gain-glutted vulture,
They said that he might—if he wanted to—write
For people of breeding and culture.
The stuff he turned out, so they freely declared,
Though perhaps for the day it succeeded,
Was palpably meant for the third business gent
And was certain to perish when he died.

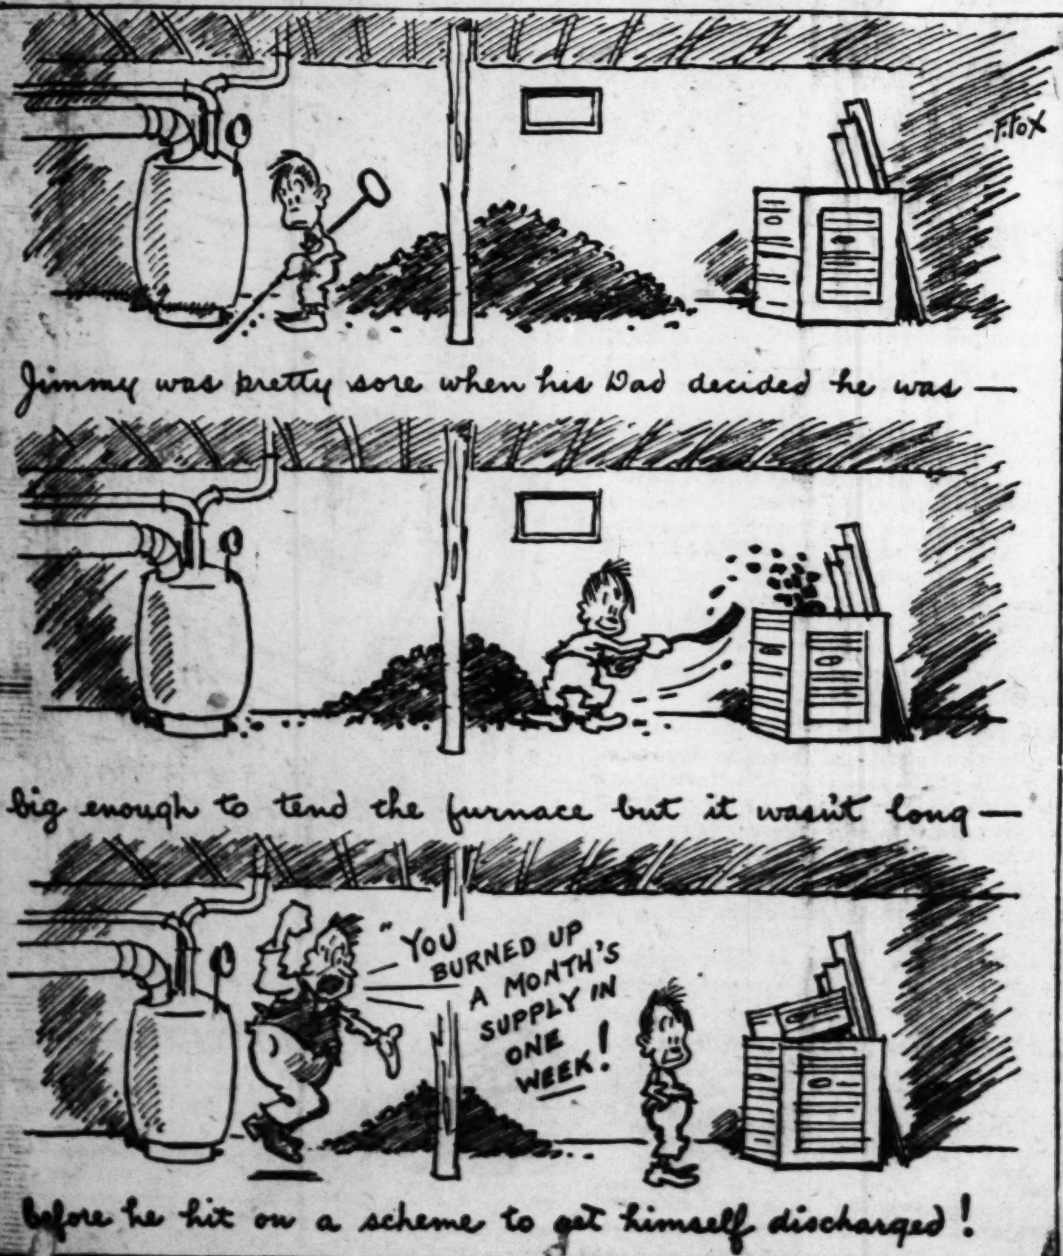

Yet William, although he cared nothing for fame,
And wrote to the taste of the masses,
Turned out a few plays that in these cultured days
Are read by our highbrowest classes.
Though three hundred years have gone by since he died,
The fame that he gained is unshaken,
Which all goes to show what a few of us know,
That critics are sometimes mistaken.

An American who formerly lived in Paris says that during the Napoleonic craze of many years ago he attended a Napoleon play at the Odeon.

In this play one act hinged on the birth of the little King of Rome. If the child was a girl one cannon shot was to be fired; if a boy, two shots.

On the night in question a cannon shot rolled forth, and there ensued a long silence on the stage.

"It is a girl," said Josephine, tensely.

But just then a second shot was heard, and the Empress cried: "No; a boy, a boy."

Now, through some error, a third cannon shot thundered forth. In the awkward pause that followed a gamin in the gallery shouted: "Parbleu, it's triplets!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

WAGE REDUCTION IS DISCUSSED

Labor Leaders State No

Nelson Cunliff, Director of Welfare, who has appointed by or Kiel to represent the public committees intended to start projects now held in abeyance count of high cost, at a meeting of the Association and the Building Trades Council in the City Building this afternoon, said that the $14,250,000 in building projects between now and April has been pledged to him on the condition that wages in the building be reduced 20 per cent from $1 an hour and with the further condition that material prices be reduced about 12 per cent.

The appointment of Cunliff followed the exclusive publication of the Post-Dispatch a week ago of an exhaustive survey showing building projects in St. Louis amounting to $20,000,000 are being held in abeyance because of high cost.

Wage Reduction Committee
Cunliff added that a $4.00 building project would be lost unless unless prices come down 20 per cent. He said that a which has factories in this and other cities had planned an additional $1,000,000 in building projects, but that a reduction could be agreed upon.

Continuing. Cunliff said one of this amount would be provided within 30 days after the material men had agreed to the reduction in prices. In addition to the building trades, other projects amounting to $1,000,000 would be started within 30 days and the remainder comprising smaller construction projects be begun before April 1.

These projects, he said, include building hospitals, three community buildings, fraternal buildings, several smaller undertakings.
For these projects, to be started as building costs drop, arranging in increasing number.

Following Cunliff's statement joint committees took up the question of the situation with a view to reaching an agreement on a
